MRS. DI COLA NAMES SLAYER OF HUSBAND; ARREST NEAR

ROMANCE IN DEATH MYSTERY

West End Man Says "Mrs. Di Cola" Is His Mother; Tells of Elopement With "Lemon King"

Mrs. Gaspare Di Cola has given the name of the man believed to have murdered the "Lemon King," and it is expected that an arrest will be made by Sergeant Rutherford of the Brookline police and Patrolman Ferrari of the Hanover street station, who are on the trail of the assassin.

The name of the suspect is being guarded by the police and Mrs. Di Cola has returned to her home on Fairbanks street and is under the care of a physician and attended by friends.

The name of the slayer was given the police by Mrs. Di Cola after a conference and Mrs. Di Cola has guarded her secret from her friends.

Antonio Bova told the AMERICAN today all about the Di Cola love tangle.

Bova is a barber. He has a flat and family in the West End of Boston and a job in Waltham.

He says that he is the son by an early marriage of Mrs. Di Cola.

STORY OF ELOPEMENT.

It is a strange story of a rich youth's infatuation in Italy for a girl who had been wedded to another while the scion of wealth was serving his army term.

It is a story of how the rich youth, returning from the army, an officer, persuaded the young wife to elope with him to this country.

The husband, whose home was thus shattered, was Maurice Bova, father of Antonio. Maurice was a peasant. Two sons had been born to him when Gaspare Di Cola came back from army service.

One of these little ones was taken to America by the mother. It died. The other, left with the father, was later brought to this country by the heart-broken father. This boy is

WEDDING DELAYED BY INCORRECT NAME

Jose B. Paulo, a well-to-do New Bedford Portuguese, came to Boston today to claim his bride-elect, Miss Brasalina Sousa, who came to Boston yesterday as a cabin passenger on the Cretic from the Azores. Sousa had a marriage license in which the name of the lady was given as Angelina Sousa. Paulo was greatly agitated when he learned of the mistake and that the ceremony could not go on until it was corrected. Immigration officials arranged for the ex-villeness and the marriage was only delayed a few hours.

ROBERT K. McCURDY, deputy city collector of taxes, president of "Commercial Athletic Club."

CITY OFFICIAL RUNS WEST END FIGHT CLUB

That Robert K. McKirdy, former Representative and now deputy collector of taxes under John J. Curley, brother of the Mayor, is the president and the real power behind the "Commercial Athletic Club," which has been holding boxing bouts at No. 1 Green street, West End, was revealed today following an investigation of the "club's" activities.

Complaints had been made that the "club" had been holding bouts which had been attended by from 800 to 1,000 men, while officials of the "club" declare the organization, which is not incorporated, has a membership of "oh, about thirty-five."

The investigation was caused by complaints that not only were boxing bouts being held, but that they were being held on property leased and paid for by the city of Boston, for use as an armory for Company L of the Sixth Regiment, M. V. M.

Everybody interested in the affairs of the "club" were busy today denying that the rooms occupied by the organization are property that has been leased by the city since the club started.

Boxing bouts are prohibited by Massachusetts laws. The "Commercial Athletic Club," however, has held a dozen bouts since May, and so well attended that on the authority of Michael Green, secretary of the club, the club is able to pay $500 a month rental for the club rooms while the City of Boston, under lease from 1911 to April 1, 1918, paid only $141.67 a month to the Emerson estate, which owns the property.

How the "club" has been able to

PENNANT ASSURED RED SOX

The results of yesterday's games in the two leagues virtually settled the pennant race in the American League and made Brooklyn an almost sure-thing bet in the National.

The "games lost" column in the American League race is the one that tells the story. Boston has lost 59 games, Chicago has lost 62 games and Detroit has lost 64 games.

In other words, Boston must lose four games more before it will be possible for Chicago even to tie the race up.

The best Chicago can do for a season's record now is, "Won 91, lost 63." The best Detroit can do is, "Won 90, lost 64."

EIGHT GAMES TO WIN.

Boston has won eighty-four games. She plays four with New York, four with Cleveland and three with Philadelphia. If she wins eight of those games she cannot be beaten.

Give the Red Sox all the worst of it and credit them with only five of their remaining eleven games—even then the White Sox must go through their remaining eleven games without losing a single one to win. And the best the Tigers could do would be to tie.

All in all, barring a surprising upset, the Red Sox have won.

The National League race looks as good as settled; but there is still a chance to upset Brooklyn's there.

The "games lost" column shows that Brooklyn has lost 55 games, while Philadelphia and Boston have each lost 57.

BROOKLYNS' OUTLOOK.

If Brooklyn loses two games she will be on even terms so far as "games lost" go with her, two opponents.

Baseball men figure the race that way. There is always hope of winning till a game is actually lost.

The best the Phillies can do, for instance, is to make a record for the year of "won 57, lost 57." Likewise the Braves. If the Dodgers lose two games out of the sixteen they have yet to play, either the Braves or the Phillies can—conceivably—tie them.

If the Dodgers break even in their remaining games, the Phillies must win 11, lose 5, to win, and the Braves must win 15, lose 2 to win.

It looks like 3-5 on the Red Sox and 4-5 on Brooklyn on the bookies' charts.

TODAY'S BANK CLEARINGS.

Boston sub-treasury credit, $165,-509.

Boston clearings, $28,621,448.

New York sub-treasury credit, $174,-858.

New York clearings, $5-0,815,641.

The New York sub-treasury lost $2,347,850 to the banks Thursday, making a cash net loss of $23,082,-008 since last Friday.

Prof. Munsterberg at Trial Only for Sake of Science

PROFESSOR HUGO MUNSTERBERG, the famous Harvard psychologist, today denied that he was in court to aid the defence of Albert Roper.

"I am here merely in the interest of science," said the professor today, as he took his accustomed seat in the courtroom prior to the opening of the trial.

"I am receiving no compensation from either side. I would not receive any compensation in any case. I don't believe that experts should ever receive compensation."

Fast Freight on B. & M. Wrecked; Man Badly Hurt

Wells, Me., Sept. 22.—One man was badly injured and eight cars were piled high on a siding when a heavy eastbound freight, travelling at a high rate of speed, left the rails of the Western Division of the Boston & Maine here this afternoon, when by some mistake it was switched from the main track.

The man, who was riding on the freight and who was hurt, is still unidentified. He was taken to a hospital in Portsmouth.

The switch was thrown open so as to permit a passenger train that is due here about this time, to switch off to a siding. Instead the freight, travelling at a rate of speed of about forty miles an hour, was switched to the side track and left the rails.

A wrecking crew was sent to clear the line.

BROTHER DEFENDS ROPER

Mark Roper, called by the State in its fight to convict Albert Roper of the murder of his father in his greenhouse, supplemented his testimony on the witness stand today by an impassioned defence of his brother.

"They've got the wrong man, that's sure," he said, when he left the courtroom at noon, after being grilled by the prosecuting attorney since yesterday afternoon.

"I'll spend the last dollar I have or can get and the last drop of my blood in freeing Albert," he continued.

ALWAYS MADE FRIENDS.

"The boy has always made friends wherever he has been. He certainly never did this.

"I believe that some man followed father and murdered him in the greenhouse after watching him through the panes of glass."

He scoffed at the importance placed by the State on the $10 gold piece which Albert had given Mrs. Jessie Fox, and which the State endeavored to prove was one that had been carried as a pocket piece by the murdered florist.

Mark Roper pulled two gold pieces from his own pocket. They were ten dollar pieces of different design.

"Look at these, he said. "They're different. Can you tell me, five minutes from now which is which, or describe either with any degree of certainty?"

Mark Roper was followed on the witness stand by another brother, Chester, younger than Albert. Before leaving the stand, in concluding his testimony, Mark was asked, in cross examination:

Q—Did your father make any complaints of Albert's frequent trips to Boston? A.—He warned him that he had better stay at work.

Q.—How often? A.—Two or three times.

Q.—You knew the reputation of Albert? Is he peaceable, humane? A.—He is O. K.

EXPLAINS PRINTS.

He explained that the bloody finger prints made on the door to the greenhouse were made by him when he passed through after finding his father's body and turning it over.

He was examined by Major Crowley in re-direct:

Q.—Was your father pleased or displeased with Albert's going to Boston? A.—He was a bit displeased.

Q. — Do you remember that your father warned Albert of the consequence if he went again. A.—I don't remember any consequences, but I remember that he warned him.

QUESTIONED ON WARNING.

Q.—Do you remember you testified at the inquest that your father said that if Albert went again to Boston he could stay there? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—What was Albert's reputation in the community? A.—Before this happened I never heard even a breath against him. When this happened everyone seemed to jump on him like a ton of bricks.

SHIPLOAD OF TROOPS PERISH

By International News Service.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—An enemy transport, loaded with troops, was sunk in the Mediterranean on Sunday by a German submarine, the Admiralty announced this afternoon. The transport sank in 43 seconds. The statement follows:

"A German submarine on September 17 torpedoed and sank in the Mediterranean an enemy transport. It was loaded with troops. The transport sank in 43 seconds."

The transport is believed to be either French or British conveying troops to the Salonica front.

London, Sept. 22.—The Russians and Rumanian forces have again taken the offensive and are advancing on all the fronts in Transylvania, Dobrudja, Carpathians and Galicia. A wireless report from Rome says the Czar's forces and their allies have gained victories all along the line.

Several forts at Halics have already fallen, says the report.

By SIDNEY B. CAVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Sept. 22.—Continuing their offensive in the Somme region, south of the Ancre, the British troops advanced along a front of about a mile and captured two lines of German trenches, the War Office announced today. The British, line, it was announced, now runs directly north of Fiers to Martinpuich.

South of Arras the British, in a night attack, entered some enemy trenches and inflicted losses on the Germans, besides capturing some prisoners.

The War Office statement follows:

"South of the Ancre during the night we advanced along a front of about a mile, capturing two lines of enemy trenches.

"Between Fiers and Martinpuich our front now runs approximately in a direct line.

"North of Fiers and Martinpuich, enemy's trenches were entered during the night, as well as south of Arras. Prisoners were taken and casualties inflicted.

"North of Neuville St. Vaast we blew up a mine and occupied the crater."

Manhole Covers Blow Off; Girl Is Badly Burned

An eight-year-old child was seriously burned, and the entire neighborhood in the vicinity of North square was thrown into excitement this afternoon when the covers of two Edison Light manholes blew off almost simultaneously.

Margaret Marsila, of No. 214 North street was the injured child. She was standing in the vicinity of the manhole in North square when an explosion hurled it high in the air. A tongue of flame darted out, which caught the child, badly burning her arms, neck and hair. Her two-year-old sister, Edith, who was standing near by, was uninjured.

The square was crowded. In the midst of the confusion a horse attached to a wagon nearby, became frightened and dashed down the street at high speed.

The fire department put out the flames with sand.

The heavy cover was hurled high in the air and came down with tremendous force. There were several narrow escapes.

Almost at the same time, another explosion near the junction of North and Richmond streets threw another heavy cover into the air several feet. Nobody was injured.

Short-circuiting was responsible for the accidents, according to the police.

MAN HELD IN THEFT OF HANDKERCHIEFS

Rocco Lescena, was arraigned before Judge Parmenter in the municipal court today, charged with stealing a dozen handkerchiefs from women shoppers. According to the police, the prisoner had for a long time been dipping into pockets of shoppers along Washington street, stealing their handkerchiefs with the hope that money might be tied up in the corners. Sentence was postponed until September 27.

PASSENGER LINERS HELD UP IN FOG

A fog of very limited area held three passenger steamships with more than a hundred passengers on board at the harbor entrance for several hours today. The City of Atlanta from Atlanta, the Powhatan from Baltimore, and the Quantico from Philadelphia, arrived off Boston Light in the early hours, but had not come up to their docks at mid afternoon. Andrew Carnegie's yacht, the Surf, is also supposed to be held up outside. She is bound from Bar Harbor to Boston with the steel magnate on board.

SEAPLANE DROPS BOMBS ON DOVER

U. S. Alarmed Over New Attack by Villa

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Direct orders have been sent to the secret agents of the State, War and Justice Departments operating in northern Mexico and along the border, positively to determine whether Francisco Villa actually is at the head of a rebel army in Chihuahua State.

On their reports admittedly depends the future policy of the administration.

No effort was being made today to disguise the apprehension in official circles caused by the report of General George Bell, Jr., commanding at El Paso, that Villa carried through to the limit a masterful raid on Chihuahua City on Hidalgo day.

SITUATION INTOLERABLE.

That Villa, after serving warning that he was coming, should have been able to ride into the city and make a speech to the people, as Bell reports, seems incredible to officials here.

If true, it is said here that the situation in the North is again intolerable and that this government will be compelled to serve an ultimatum demanding Villa's death or capture at the hands of Carranza, or else heavily reinforced troops to oppose his further operations.

General Bell has been asked to report as to his sources of information. At the same time the various secret agents of the government in the country have been told to get busy.

It is understood that the Mexican envoys at New London have denied emphatically that Villa was in charge of the raid, they asserting that it was engineered by certain of his former lieutenants, assisted by Zapatista leaders who had come through from the South.

PLOT IS CHARGED.

Until exact reports are received, however, no action will be taken here. Officials at the State Department said that a general investigation now is in progress to determine the truth of allegations made by Carranista representatives in this country that a general conspiracy to depose him and seize the government is actively being financed by New York capitalists, formerly identified with the Madero faction in Mexico.

Rich Employer to Wed Stenographer

Miss Louise York, a stenographer, will be married to Joseph W. Davy, her wealthy employer, tomorrow afternoon in Everett. She is twenty. He is a widower, forty-one years of age, and has two children.

Davy, whose home is in Cedar Cliff road, East Braintree, is treasurer of the John W. West Co. of No. 297 Congress street, and is widely known among the thread trade in New England.

Because of parental objection at the home of the bride-to-be the engagement and wedding plans were kept more or less secret, but Miss York admitted today that she would be married tomorrow afternoon at her home, No. 11 Sherman street, Everett.

Miss York, a graduate at Everett High School in 1915, went from school to work in Davy's office.

Mr. Davy has a Summer home at the Weirs, New Hampshire. His former wife died some time ago. His children, both boys, are six and twelve years old respectively.

The couple plan to leave for an automobile trip through the West. They will make their home at the Davy house in East Braintree.

CAMBRIDGE SOLON RESCUES WOMAN

Hampstead, N. H., Sept. 22.—How Councilman William Lynch of Cambridge figured as a hero when he rescued Miss Margaret McDonald, supervisor of a Boston telephone exchange, from drowning was learned today. The accident occurred when the railing of a bridge on which they were sitting broke, plunging them into the water. Lynch kept his companion afloat and brought her to the shore.

PREDICTS EGGS WILL SELL AT $1

The price of eggs will soon be 75 cents a dozen and doubtlessly will be $1 a dozen before the Winter is over, according to Secretary Wilfred Wheeler of the State Board of Agriculture, who has just completed a comprehensive study of the egg situation.

His investigation revealed:

1—Poor hatch of chickens last Spring.

2—More than 50 per cent. of the Spring poultry has died because of adverse weather conditions and other causes.

3—Farmers killed poultry for the high market prices this Summer.

4—The high price of grain and chicken feed has driven out the farmer who raised poultry as a side-line.

"Consumers all over the State are going to feel the effect of the price increase in eggs," said Secretary Wheeler. "The situation is by no means local. It will hit the country districts just as hard as the cities."

Eggs are selling from 55 to 60 cents a dozen. Increases are expected daily, but the real effect will not be felt until the cold weather," Secretary Wheeler said.

"Then," he said, "eggs will become a forbidden fruit for Mr. Average Citizen."

The increase in the price of bakers' bread is now being investigated by Secretary Wheeler. He has already urged the National Department of Weights and Measures that a conference be held with various State officials with the view of framing a national bread law.

REMARKABLE WAR PICTURE SHOWS FIGHT TO DEATH

This is one of the most sensational war pictures taken up to this day. it was granted first prize at the War Photographic Exposition in Paris. Several French soldiers, trapped by the enemy in a ruined village in Alsace, are defending themselves to their last cartridge. Note the wounded soldier handing his last bullets to one of his companions. An officer just hit can be seen dropping his rifle.

BERLIN REPORTS LULL IN FIGHTING

Berlin, Sept. 22.—The German War Office today reported a lull in the fighting on the western front. On the eastern sphere of operations it was admitted that the Russians were still occupying some German positions near Korytnica, but between the Sereth and Strypa, their attacks were frustrated. The official statement follows:

"Western theatre—Apart from artillery and hand engagements in the Somme and Meuse regions there is nothing to report.

"Eastern theatre, Army of Prince Leopold—West of Lutsk, Russian attacks failed.

"Near Korytnica, the enemy is still occupying portions of our positions. As a result of the fighting on Wednesday we took 750 prisoners and several machine guns. Artillery duels are in progress on a part of the front.

"Between the Sereth and Strypa, north of Zborow, enemy attacks failed.

"Army of Archduke Karl—There is likely fighting at Narajovka and infantry activity in the Carpathians. Smotrec summit has again been lost. Efforts of the Russians to advance on Bibuludowa were unsuccessful. Attacks in the Tatarlea sectors north of Lornawatral were beaten off. There is nothing to report in the Ebenburgen sector.

"Army of Field Marshal von Mackensen—Rumanians attacked in the Dobrudja sector, southwest of Topraari, as a means of encircling the counter attack by German-Bulgarian-Turkish troops. The Rumanians were driven back in disorder.

CANADIAN DASH SURPRISES FOES

By FREDERICK PALMER.
Accredited Correspondent with the British Army of the Press of the United States.

With the British Army in the Field, Sept. 21, via London, Sept. 22.—Some of the best stories of the battle are told only after some battalions which have been in a big attack are out of line. Then after they have slept they recall vivid instances in the midst of charges and struggles for positions; they live over again, in their sleepless nights and days, their grapple with the foe. Laughable and ridiculous stories are mixed with the tragic.

Today your correspondent has been visiting the Canadian battlers after their storming of Courcelette. These men, their eyes blinking after sleeping the clock around, had taken more than their own number of prisoners in their swift rush through the village.

The Germans thought that the attack was over. They did not anticipate a second charge which came just before dusk. They were in their deep dugouts taking cover from a sudden burst of shell fire when, as the shell fire lifted, the Canadians were at their doors.

A battalion, which took the eastern end of the village, had got up only just in time to deploy for the attack before the minute set for them to rush across the open under the German curtains of shell fire.

The officers could not give detailed instructions to their men before they went forward. They had to trust to the intelligence and initiative of the men to adapt themselves to the general plan. Turning corners, dodging in and out, they cleared the streets of Germans.

BOY CAPTURES FORTY.

In their wake came another battalion which "hopped up." Given another half-hour, the Germans would have organized their defence. At is was, they were helplessly confined in their cellars. A boy of nineteen captured a dugout of forty Germans and marched them away as prisoners. One of the two battalion commanders captured was a baron.

"Being of the aristocracy, he put on a good deal of airs," said a Canadian colonel. "I took him aside and told him it was out of place and I was too busy to be ceremonious. Then he became amiable."

Two German doctors worked like Trojans looking after their own and helping look after the British wounded. They objected to being kept under guard, saying that they were medical officers and not combatants.

"Sorry, but there are too many of your friends still armed. We put the dugouts to let you circulate about this village freely," was the answer. The baron was sent across the open with other prisoners under a Red Cross flag with the warning: "If your guns fire on you we cannot help it."

The baron was wounded in the leg by German shrapnel.

One Canadian officer, small in stature, as he turned the corner found himself confronted by an enormous Prussian, but got the drop on him.

WAS A "WHITE ELEPHANT."

"My business was to get on through the village to the objective," said the officer. "That big German became a white elephant. I did not want to spare any man just then to guard him so drove him on ahead, making him keep his hands up.

"The thing was indicrous in the midst of bursting shells and houses burning and no moving picture operator in sight.

"After we established ourselves beyond the village and things were pretty well cleaned up I saw Canadian and German prisoners, who had been fighting fiercely five minutes before, good naturedly discussing the old theme of when the war would be over.

"It ended by the Germans declaring it would be over when the allies admitted they were licked and the Canadians saying it would be over when the Germans admitted they were licked."

WAR SUMMARY

The Rumanian campaign continues to be of chief interest. There are two phases.

1—In the Dobrudja, the Teutonic attacks against a Russian and Rumanian line from the Danube to the sea below Constanza have been repulsed. The Teutons admit this; the Rumanians add that the Teutonic forces have begun a southward retreat.

2—In the western section of Transylvania, northeast of the Iron Gates, the Austrians have driven the Rumanians back through the mountains there and are on the point of invading Rumanian territory.

The Rumanian forces when that country entered the war were thrown against Transylvania. They met little resistance there; but a heavy blow against Rumanian territory on the Black Sea forced the transfer of strong forces to that region. Now the offensive there has been checked; but with the weakening of the forces in Transylvania, the Austrians seem to be developing an offensive effort of some importance.

One significant development has been the failure of Russia to put any very strong force into Rumania. This failure indicates that Russia's losses in her strong offensive in Bukowina have been so great as to restrict her resources in men.

The Somme fighting was marked again today by German counter attacks of extraordinary force. The French report says these attacks were all beaten off. The counter attacks have been delivered on the allied line almost from Thiepval to Pozieres; but their main strength has been thrown against Bouchavesnes. The Germans claim that trenches were captured south of Rancourt—which is north of Bouchavesnes—but they admit that some of these trenches were lost in subsequent fighting.

On the Russian front, the Germans have taken the offensive on the Stockhod, while the Russians still hold the offensive in the Carpathians. The net results of all this fighting, however, have been practically nothing.

Concerning the fighting near Lake Ostrovo, west of Salonica, there is some confusion. The Bulgarians claim to have beaten back the French in confusion at one point; the Serbians claim a success against the Bulgarians at another. Only one thing is certain, that Monastir is not yet under any direct menace, and so long as Monastir remains in Bulgar hands, the allied offensive here has hardly begun to move.

Bulgars Consolidate Positions in Dobrudja.

Sofia, Sept. 22.—Today's official report of the Bulgarian war staff sheds but little light on operations in the Dobrudja. It follows:

"Macedonia—Situation on Vardar and Struma fronts unchanged.

"Rumania—In the Dobrudja we consolidated our positions.

"German aeroplanes bombed the railway at Carnavoda, causing some damage.

"A Russian squadron unsuccessfully bombarded the heights north and east of Pervelia."

Mackensen's Army Lacks Munitions

London, Sept. 22.—Field Marshal von Mackensen's Teutonic army battling the Russo-Rumanian forces in the Dobrudja is in desperate straits, according to dispatches received here today. Retreating before the fierce attacks of the foe, Mackensen's men are declared to be without food and munitions.

Hard rains have made the roads almost impassable. The greatest difficulty is being experienced by the Teutonic allies in moving their artillery. Food convoys sent down the Danube from Hirsova fail to relieve Von Mackensen's forces, were sunk by Rumanian artillery.

Italians Report Further Progress

By International News Service.

Rome, Sept. 22.—Although bad weather is hindering operations on the Austro-Italian front, the Italian War Office today reported further successes for King Victor's troops. The War Office statement follows:

"Bad weather yesterday interfered with our activity throughout the whole front. Further progress, however, was reported in connection with the advances at the head of the Vanoi Cismon Valley and towards the summit of Mount Slon.

"In the upper Cordvale Valley in the Julian Alps there is limited fire. The enemy shelled Gorizia without causing any damage."

FRENCH REPEL ATTACKS ON SOMME

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Sept. 22.—Continuing their attacks in an effort to check the allies' offensive in the Somme region, the Germans launched several counter attacks against the French positions at Pries farm and Rancourt. All were unsuccessful.

Wave after wave of Teuton troops was hurled against the French positions, only to be mowed down by fire of the French guns, the War office announced today.

The text of the official communique follows:

"North of the Somme the enemy launched a strong attack this morning against our new positions between Pries Farm and Rancourt. Our barrage fire checked the German assault sharply and forced the enemy to retreat and re-enter his trenches. The attack cost him serious losses.

"Everywhere else the night was calm."

BULGARS ROUTED.

Giving the retreating Bulgarians no time to reform their lines, the Serbian forces in Macedonia are continuing their pursuit of the foe and have reached the outskirts of Verbeni, the French war office announces today.

Violent Bulgarian attacks at Zbrosko and Florina were repulsed.

The official communique referring to operations on this front follows:

"Army of the Orient—On the Struma front in the region of Lake Doiran there has been the usual artillery conflict.

"Between the Vardar and the Heherna (Cerna) a violent Bulgarian attack at Zbrojko suffered a sanguinary check.

FRENCH GAIN GROUND.

"In the region of the Broda, Serbian troops pursuing their advance have arrived as far as the outskirts of Verbeni. One hundred prisoners were taken.

"North of Florian an attack by the enemy was broken by French infantry fire. Our troops have occupied all the terrain northeast of Armensko and their progress continues. Stubborn conflicts have been going on on the heights dominating the Florian-Hopil road.

"Fog has hindered operations along the whole front."

British Ships Shell Enemy in Balkans.

By International News Service.

Salonica, Sept. 22.—The War office today issued the following bulletin:

"British warships shelled the enemy in the neighborhood of Neochori. The artillery duel in Doiran increased.

"Neochori is a Macedonian town on the Struma near the coast.

Typewriter Man, 61, Makes Flying Trip to Wed Teacher, 59

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 22.—George C. Blickensderfer, the typewriter manufacturer, has returned here from his flying trip to Philadelphia, where he was married on Tuesday night to Miss Kate Helen Cochran of Brooklyn.

A Philadelphia dispatch describes the marriage as a hurried one, performed by Magistrate John P. Collins, who had consented over the telephone to marry a couple from New York. The bridegroom is sixty-one, the bride two years younger.

New York, Sept. 22.—Miss Kate H. Cochrane, a teacher in Public School No. 158, Brooklyn, is away on leave of absence.

Demand Brennan Quit Garage Case

Charging that Mayor Curley's appointee, Street Commissioner Francis J. Brennan, was prejudiced in favor of the petitioner for the erection of a garage at No. 162-168 Warren street Roxbury, a delegation of remonstrants today demanded that Brennan withdraw from the case.

The demand was made by E. Irving Smith, counsel for the remonstrants, who include the Advent Christian Society and the Advent Christian Publishing Society, at a rehearing of the case by the street commissioners.

John W. Webb, husband of the petitioner, admitted that he "put out" $100 worth of automobile service for the Curley candidates for City Council last election.

Brennan at one time voted against the petition but he later changed his vote.

It was shown that Brennan first voted against the petition after Webb had "put out" the $100 worth of auto service for the Curley candidates, but Attorney Smith asked Webb, under cross-examination:

"And the bread you cast upon the waters didn't return until August?"

Before Webb could make reply Acting Chairman Frank A. Goodwin of the street commissioners broke in with:

"I will not stand for any such question."

Goodwin refused to consider the demand for removal of Brennan from the case, saying, "The matter has no standing."

Brennan was assistant secretary to Mayor Curley when the Mayor appointed him to the Street Commission, at a salary of $4,000 a year.

Attorney Smith filed a petition for Brennan's withdrawal from the case.

GERMANS PUT TAX ON BELGIAN NOTES

Amsterdam, Sept. 22.—The Germans have introduced in Belgium new taxation on bank notes, according to correspondents here.

All bank notes must be stamped by the German financial agents, the authorities in return for a small fee on each note.

UNIONS IGNORE MITCHEL'S WARNING

By International News Service.

New York, Sept. 22.—The situation growing out of the strike of carmen here reached its most critical point today. With the threat of Mayor Mitchel to call out the State Guard still ringing in their ears, union leaders continued their plans for calling a general sympathetic strike.

Voting on this proposition will start this afternoon. Plans for calling the general strike immediately have been made. The Central Labor conference has been empowered to send out the strike order.

Estimates of just how many workmen will go out if the order is issued vary greatly. Figures set by different union leaders range all the way from 60,000 to 150,000. It is understood the time set for the walkout will be either next Monday or Tuesday.

Labor leaders generally expect bitterness today over Mayor Mitchel's statement, in which Public Service Commissioner Travis joined, warning the unions that he would call out the militia in case of a general strike. They declared that they were prepared for it.

Service on surface and elevated trains continued normal today and surface car traffic was gradually increasing. Attacks on elevated trains continued despite the fact that hundreds of police are stationed all along the lines, on roofs and at the stations.

Four passengers were injured in attacks early today. A stone, hurled into an elevated car at the Third avenue line, near One Hundred and Seventh street, hurt three men. Another was injured by a brick thrown through the window of an "L" train at One Hundred and Sixth street and Third avenue. Showers of rocks and bottles greeted several trains on the Sixth and Ninth avenue elevated lines.

REPORT SEAPLANES DEFEAT RUSSIANS

By International News Service.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—German seaplanes successfully attacked with bombs two Russian ships used for starting aeroplanes, which were escorted by one cruiser and several destroyers near Varna on the Bulgarian coast Wednesday, the German Admiralty announced today.

The hostile sea forces were compelled to retire and were pursued by the German seaplanes.

The seaplanes later successfully attacked hostile transport steamers in Constanza and bombed railroads in northern Dobrudja. All the German machines, despite strong shelling, returned safely.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. Frederick D. Rogers, of Chicago, Ill., says: I have found Fletcher's Castoria very useful in the treatment of children's complaints.

Dr. William C. Bloomer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: In my practice I am glad to recommend your Castoria, knowing it is perfectly harmless and always satisfactory.

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Bay State Troopers on Border Eager for Orders Home

By BERT FORD.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 22.—With the war division parade over, the Second Massachusetts Brigade marked time and kept its ears tilted for the orders that will send them home from the Mexican border after three months in the Federal service.

While the orders are expected any hour now there may be some delay in sending units away. In fact, not a few of the commanding officers fear Villa's activity may suddenly change matters and compel the National Guard units to stay longer.

But all hands hope not. The going home sentiment is now so strong that the men would find an eleventh hour change of program hard to follow out, although the Bay State forces desire to remain just as long as military necessity demands.

BOYS ENJOYED WORK.

Everybody was on the alert for the official tidings. Rumors were many. General Bell was reported to have the orders that will send the Massachusetts units away.

The men were glad to take things easy. The majority of the organizations were up at 4 a. m., and the Massachusetts field artillery began work at 5 a. m. The "doughboys," as the infantry is called, hiked more than ten miles and the mounted men were in the saddle practically the entire day. But they enjoyed the thrill of taking part in the first war strength division ever paraded in the United States.

The review and inspection by General Clement and staff on the plain beyond Fort Bliss was spectacular. The column, including the wagon and truck trains, was thirty miles long. The closing feature was a string of 250 new motor trucks, most of them canopied like prairie wagons, and each costing $2,000.

TOOK FIVE HOURS.

The column took more than five hours to pass. Halts due to passing railroad trains among the procession through most of the day. The artillery, especially the fierce-looking four point sevens attracted attention. Spectators were surprised to discover that Uncle Sam had so many of them in El Paso.

The 26,000 men and the trains of ambulances and supply wagons and motor trucks were lost on that prairie and the organizations were massed as far as the vision carried. It looked like a gigantic painting of an army. Steel glistened in the sun and flags and pennants fluttered and arms were stacked and the men stood or squatted, while others amused themselves forming human pyramids.

Horses and mules and many of the men went without water. Some was shipped 100 miles, but most of it had to be hauled in from the Rio Grande. Acres and acres had been cleared of cactus by prisoners who worked for weeks and the dobe dust was six inches deep.

When the troops were moving, dense clouds of dust rose almost to the clouds, and falling formed a sort of fog haze over the entire prairie. It was a spectacle that will be long remembered by those who were fortunate enough to see it. The Massachusetts brigade not only had the honor of leading the procession, but did itself proud. The infantry remounts made such a splendid showing that generals and colonels of other National Guard organizations and of the regular army put themselves out to compliment General E. Lester Sweetser who in turn expressed his satisfaction to the correspondents from Boston.

The exhibition was only a forerunner of what is in store for the people of Boston when the troops return. Colonel Edward Logan and his "Fighting Ninth" at the head of such a historic military turnout shared with the men and with those of the [illegible] honor having been bestowed on troops from Boston.

MIND RESTORED AS TEETH ARE PULLED

New York, Sept. 22.—Cured through the extraction of all her teeth, Mrs. Lloyd Warfield of Spencertown, N. Y., is likely to become of considerable interest to the medical man and alienists. Early last February she showed evidences of mental depression. She failed to improve in a sanitarium, and her husband was considering sending her to the State Hospital. When the teeth were extracted it was discovered that several molars had ulcers at the roots. No sooner had Mrs. Warfield stepped from the dentist's chair than her full mental faculties returned.

TO MOVE MEXICAN PEACE MEETING

By International News Service.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The joint American-Mexican Commission's sittings at New London, Ct., may be brought to an end soon. It has virtually been decided, an authority states, to remove the conferences to another city.

Whether Washington or another city will be selected has not been decided. Commodious quarters in the State Department, adapted to the sittings of a commission, are available.

There is no prospect, it is said, that the conferences will be concluded until after the American elections. It is said the commissioners are confronted by obstacles of a most serious character and that agreement upon the major propositions by them is not in sight.

BEFORE YOUR CHILD SUFFERS MONTHS

With Skin Eruptions Use Cuticura, It Quickly Relieves. Trial Free.

"My son was eight years old when his face was in pimples. The pimples would fester and spread to a sore eruption as large as a ten-cent piece, and his face itched and burned and he would scratch and irritate it so I had to use ice bags. He was cross and fretful and did not sleep naturally, and his face looked badly while he suffered. He had the trouble about three months.

"A nurse told me of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I bought two fifty-cent boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and in six weeks the child was all healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lyman V. Marden, East Rumford, N. H., April 21, 1916.

While Cuticura Soap works wonders in all cases of skin troubles, its properties are so mild and so delicately combined that it is also ideal for every-day use in the toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Ointment used now and then as needed will do all and more than the majority of expensive creams do in keeping the skin soft, smooth and clear.

For Free Trial by Return Mail address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. H, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

PLAN TO SELL MILK DIRECT

Laconia, N. H., Sept. 22.—Richard Pattee of this city, secretary of the New England Milk Producers' Association, has sent notices to the directors of the association to meet Saturday afternoon in Manchester. The purpose of the meeting will be to consider ways and means of disposing of milk in the Boston markets, if the big contractors refuse to pay 50 cents per eight and one-half quart cans on and after October 1.

It is probable that at the meeting committees will be appointed to investigate and arrange for the marketing of milk in Boston and a series of mass meetings will probably be held in the milk producing centres of New England and Eastern New York. Mr. Pattee said that practically all of the producers refused to sign the contracts issued September 20 for the six months beginning October 1.

TRIPLETS BORN BY CAESARIAN METHOD

Holyoke, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Georgianna Bergeron, wife of John Bergeron of Aldenville, gave birth to triplets in the Providence Hospital by a Caesarian operation performed by Dr. E. F. Sullivan.

The triplets consist of a boy and two girls. The girls weigh six pounds each and the boy tips the scales at five and three-quarter pounds. It was stated at the hospital that the mother and children are doing well. The children appear especially strong and healthy.

We Here Announce Our Fall Opening

Never in the history of the retail clothing business have conditions been so difficult to overcome as they are this season. More than a year ago, with our more than usual foresight and with cash right in our hands, we went into the market and bought woolens right and left. We spent a whole fortune. Nothing but the very best woolens secured. All standard dyes—of wear-resisting fabrics. Result is that now, at the very height of the Fall season, we are prepared with the finest and most dependable line of good clothing, at prices exactly the same as our last Fall's low prices were. Therefore, with more certainty than ever do we not only guarantee our fabrics and colors—but guarantee you the very best values in Boston. If you do not think so, your money will be cheerfully refunded.

CARDINAL BUYS HOMES FOR RESTS

The Pilot makes official announcement of the purchase by Cardinal O'Connell of estates in the vicinity of Greater Boston which are to be devoted to the triple purpose of providing places of rest, recreation and recuperation for priests and sisters and the laity of the Boston archdiocese.

"The magnitude of this need," says the Pilot, "has been recognized for many years by the Cardinal, and at last he has seen his way to a complete and satisfactory settlement of the problem."

The inaugural step in this direction was made a few years ago when the Cardinal purchased in Duxbury a large estate with the intention of providing there a Clergy House for diocesan priests in need of retreat and rest. A roomy and comfortable brick house on the property will be used as the domicile of the infirm priests. A large frame house nearby will be occupied by the Xaverian brothers who will be in charge of the estate.

REST HOME FOR SISTERS.

In the near future the Cardinal intends to establish a Rest House for the Sisters of St. Joseph on property in Framingham, which was given to the archdiocese some time ago by a generous benefactor who for the present desires to remain unknown.

A farm on Trapelo road, Waltham, was bought some five years ago by the Cardinal, who has handed it over to the sisters in charge of St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Clement's House, on Brookline street, is to be used as a House of Retreats for women of the Catholic laity, where religious retreats will be held on lines similar to the retreats for men at Blessed Gabriel Monastery in Brighton. The outlay on this property has been $100,000.

Property recently purchased for some $15,000 near Center Harbor, on the shores of Lake Winnipesaukee, the Cardinal intends to use as a camp for boys, who, with their teachers, will use it during the vacation season.

"These combined purchases," says the Pilot, "stand as an investment of nearly one-quarter of a million dollars. The people of the diocese have not been asked to give to these purposes one single dollar. They were made actual by the foresight and generosity of Cardinal O'Connell and by open-hearted friends who have but to hear of a good work to contribute to it."

ARRAIGN AUTOIST ON DEATH CHARGE

Leslie D. Hawkridge of Longwood avenue, was arraigned in the Brookline court today charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of John Dowling, fourteen, of Grant avenue, Dorchester, who died as the result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile on Beacon street. The defendant pleaded not guilty, and the case was continued until Monday.

Oscar Clark of 83 Summer St., a Boston G. A. R. Man, Now Praising Plant Juice.

When one neglects his condition and suffers from headache, backache, dizziness, poor circulation, unsound sleep or constipation, it is well to know that these symptoms of stomach trouble are bound to lead to more serious trouble. Give your stomach a chance to make good, help it so that you may again know the feeling of real health; again have the vim, energy and vigor, clean tongue, sweet breath, good complexion, and be able to sleep the night through and to eat the food you crave without fear of the consequences. The new herbal system tonic, Plant Juice, will assist that much abused organ, the stomach, to accomplish these results.

Many local people are daily testifying that they have entirely regained their health by the use of this remedy. Mr. Oscar Clark, who resides at No. 83 Summer Street, and is employed at the G. A. R. Hall of this city, is a Plant Juice enthusiast. Recently he made the following signed statement:

"I contracted malarial fever during the war and I never got over it. I have had stomach trouble, which took the form of indigestion, liver and kidney trouble. I was nervous and restless and could not sleep at night. My food would ferment in my stomach, because gas and a bloated condition; had headaches and dizzy spells and would be so dizzy at times that I had to hang on to something to stand up. A friend told me about Plant Juice and I have been taking it for a month and am feeling fine. I can eat all kinds of food, have no more aches or pains, have no more trouble with my liver or kidneys. All my family are now taking Plant Juice and we are a very happy family now. Will recommend Plant Juice to any family."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Advertisement.

Roosevelt Goes to Bat for G. O. P.

By International News Service.

New York, Sept. 22.—Stepping to the bat wielding a new "big stick," Colonel Roosevelt expects to knock out nothing more than home runs for the Republican party from now on until November 7. The sage of Oyster Bay will be the chief "pinch hitter" for the G. O. P. He is not going to take a regular place in the lineup, but will wield his trusty stick where weak batters are opposing the enemy.

The Colonel's next appearance at the plate will be at Battle Creek on September 20. He will be sent into the "wavering" States to show the doubtful ones what good hitting can do for a team. And the "chief pinch hitter" will not travel with the box-seat holders. He will mix with the bleachereres and travel in the regular way—barring the special.

HAVERHILL JUDGE CRITICISES POLICE

Lawrence, Sept. 22.—Severe criticism of the Haverhill Police Department was made by Judge Joseph Dunn in the Superior Court upon the discovery of the record of a prisoner whom he believed the police were trying to shield. The defendant was Edward H. Carroll of Haverhill, charged with assault on his wife. Deputy Marshal Pearson said he did not think Carroll had a record. The latter's wife, however, revealed he had "thereafter I shall expect the police to divulge the records," said the Judge, sharply.

GREENFIELD STRIKE OF 600 MEN IS OFF

Greenfield, Sept. 22.—The machinists' strike which affected five factories in this city, employing between 600 and 700 men, was declared off today, following a visit of John A. Moffitt of Washington, representing the United States Department of Labor. Moffit told the men there was no chance of their winning the strike and advised them to go back to work. The men were seeking an eight-hour day, with no reduction of pay.

WALTHAM MAN IS HELD IN SHOOTING

Arthur E. Houde of Waltham, who is charged with the attempted murder of his wife in Newton yesterday, was arraigned in the Newton Court today, following his alleged confession to the police. He entered a plea of not guilty and was held for a continued hearing at the request of his counsel Bernard Murphy, bail being fixed at $20,000. In default of bail, Houde was committed to the Ear; Cambridge Jail.

Mrs. Houde, who had been separated from her husband for some time, was living at No. 1253 Centre street, Newton Centre, where she was shot after being dragged from her bed.

Houde walked into the Newton police headquarters late yesterday afternoon, where he gave himself up, and according to the police made a signed statement, which is claimed to be a complete confession of his guilt. His wife had left him and was living with her father.

INDICT WOMAN FOR FIVE DEATHS

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Amy E. Archer Gilligan, charged with poisoning five inmates of her home for elderly people at Windsor, was indicted for first degree murder on five counts.

Benedict M. Holden, counsel for Mrs. Gilligan, announced that he was not ready to proceed with the trial and Judge M. S. Shumway ordered the case continued to the December term of the Superior Court. Mrs. Gilligan pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the county jail without bonds.

The State alleged that Mrs. Gilligan poisoned the following persons: Mrs. Maud Lynch of Lakeville on February 21, 1916; Franklin R. Andrews of Cheshire on May 30, 1914; Charles A. Smith of Waterbury on April 9, 1914; Michael W. Gilligan, second husband of the accused, on February 20, 1914, and Mrs. Alice Gowdy of Hartford, December 8, 1914.

Mrs. Gilligan was arrested on May 7 last, specifically charged with the murder of Mr. Andrews, whose body had been secretly exhumed. Since that time four other bodies have been exhumed, and the State alleges that evidence of a powerful poison was found in all the bodies. All the deaths occurred at the Archer Home.

WILSON BETTORS APPEAR ON CURB

New York, Sept. 22.—The outstanding feature of the betting in Wall Street during the past twenty-four hours has been the large number of small bettors anxious to back Wilson. Brokers on the curb were almost inundated with bets of from $50 to $100 on this proposition. The aggregate was so large that in most instances they were accepting them, enabling them to execute commissions of $500 and $1,000 placed in their hands.

In big amounts a preponderance of Wilson money was offered, but while, in some instances, his adherents were disposed to accept 2 to 1 offered against him, a majority was disposed to hold out for 2½ to 1.

Edward McQuade was offering $4,000 to $10,000 on the President, while L. J. Stokes, another curb broker, had $5,000 to bet on Wilson against $12,000 on Hughes. The only considerable bets recorded were one of $5,000 to $2,500 on Hughes, made by L. J. Stokes, and another of $5,000 against $10,000 by a Wilson backer.

One curb broker said he had $100,000 to bet on Hughes against $80,000 on Wilson, and the best he could do was an offer of $5,000 on Wilson against $9,000 on Hughes.

BUY EDITION AS AID FOR TROOPS

Tomorrow is the day when the great Eighth Regiment Special Edition of the Boston AMERICAN will be on sale.

You will want this edition. You may have a son, a sweetheart, brother or some relative with the boys at the front, that you want to know what he is doing—his picture may be among the score of photographs that will be in this special edition.

Special articles on border conditions—sidelights about the boys, their camp life, and many other features will make the edition one worth having.

RECEIPTS FOR FUND.

The edition will be edited by Miss Edna Lawrence Spencer of Cambridge. For her staff she has co-operating with her the local relief committees in cities that have companies in the Eighth Regiment.

The special edition sale proceeds will be turned over to Colonel Frank A. Graves of the Eighth Regiment for the regimental fund to aid the boys of the command now at the border.

Keen rivalry by the various committees for the best showing to be made by the sale of the edition is being shown. Salem is the city that has the lead, with a number of other cities fighting for first place.

Former District Attorney John J. Higgins of Middlesex county has sent his check for $25 to help swell the fund.

Credit for the idea of running a special edition of the Boston AMERICAN for the benefit of the Eighth Regiment is due Mr. Robert D. Worcester of the Cambridge Business Men's Company. Mr. Worcester has long been interested in military affairs and has many friends in the Eighth Regiment.

The papers will go on sale tomorrow on every street in the city. A hundred pretty girls will offer you the Eighth Regiment Special Edition from automobiles, or perhaps you may meet one of the girls on the street corner. Buy one of the papers and help swell the relief fund.

AUTOMOBILES WANTED.

The relief committee has sent out an appeal to the young women of the cities and towns nearby to come forward to help in the sale of the special edition. The committee wants automobiles. They have several offered already, but not enough to carry the young women who are to sell the papers there. Send in your name at once to Miss Spencer, care of the Boston AMERICAN. She will need every machine and young woman that will volunteer.

Special articles written by prominent men and women of the State will make up some of its pages. Among those who have already contributed to this edition are Governor McCall, Lieutenant-Governor Coolidge, Major Frank S. Elliott of Gloucester, recently retired from the Eighth Regiment and just returned from the border; Mrs. Barrett Wendell, president of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness; Mrs. Austin C. Wellington of Cambridge, former Adjutant-General Charles H. Cole, Adjutant-General Gardner W. Pearson, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor James M. Curley, former District Attorney John J. Higgins of Middlesex County, Secretary of State Albert P. Langtry, Judge Thomas B. Riley and others.

now Antonio Bova, the journeyman barber.

The police are striving to establish whatever connection there may be between the assassination of Gaspare Di Cola and the bizarre romance which now stands revealed.

The assassin who slew the importer was no ordinary killer. He fired five shots. Every one hit. The woman by Di Cola's side was untouched. The slayer was out to "get" Di Cola, as the police express it, and worked with murderous dispatch.

REVENGE AS MOTIVE.

Revenge, the police say, thus stands as the sole motive. They seek the cause back of the revenge, whether it was a blackmailer balked of tribute, whether it was a question of honor, whether it was the deadly "Black Hand" which preys upon wealthy Italians.

Now comes Antonio Bova, with his frank story of being Mrs. Di Cola's son. He is a tall man, under thirty, of the straight and lean Sicilian type.

PLANNED MARRIAGE.

His is a tale of sorrow at his mother's situation now, of shock at the assassination of Di Cola, of great disappointment that he had not been able, as he says to effect a marriage between his mother and Di Cola.

The last Antonio knew his own father was alive in Italy. So his plan for a marriage of his mother and Di Cola presumably included some arrangement of divorce and remarriage.

Antonio declared he had not seen Di Cola for a year, since the last effort he made an attempt, to use his phrase, "to have them get married according to law."

He admits that Di Cola never entertained any friendly feeling for him, but, so far as last Wednesday night goes, Antonio says he can account for his time. He says he worked overtime that night, left Waltham at 9.15, talked with a friend at Summer and Washington streets in Boston, and was in his flat at No. 56 Hale street, before 11 p. m.

BOVA'S OWN STORY.

Here is Antonio Bova's own story:

"I was born in the little town of Termini, near Palmero in Sicily. My father was Maurice Bova, and my mother was the woman who has so long been known as Mrs. Di Cola."

"The story of my mother and Gaspare Di Cola goes back about thirty years ago to the town of Termini Imerese in Sicily. It is about forty miles from Palermo.

"One of the richest families in the town was that of Di Cola. At that time the head of the family was a merchant and manufacturer. He had a factory in which macaroni was prepared and put up. He had a big business, too, in olive oil.

"This town sent wores Gaspare and Giuseppe Di Cola. He had a daughter, also.

"Gaspare Di Cola, the elder son, was nineteen years old and was going to college.

"There was a pretty girl in the village, daughter of a poor family. She was only sixteen. She came to work in the Di Cola macaroni factory. There Gaspare Di Cola saw her. They fell in love.

SENT TO THE ARMY.

"Gaspare, they say, would have married her. But his father, looking for a bigger marriage, interposed. Gaspare was sent to his army service, but, by payment of a good deal of money, his term of service was shortened. He returned home a lieutenant.

"Gaspare Di Cola found that the pretty peasant girl whom he had loved was the wife of another man. While he was away a match had been arranged between her and Mariano, or Maurice, Bova, a railroad fanchino, or man who carries passengers' baggage.

"Matters went along. Two children were born to Maurice Bova and his young wife. I was one of those children.

"But Garpare Di Cola could not forget the girl he had loved, even though she had married another man. He was willing to sacrifice anything to get her.

"One story is that Di Cola gave her money to send her husband, Bova, to this country. Another is that they fled together. In any event, they did come here, taking one of the children, which died. I was left with my father, who also brought me to America. I was very small at the time. My father settled in Baltimore, where I lived for eleven years. Then I came to Boston, where I have been ever since.

"Nobody could have been more surprised than I was when I read in the papers about the murder when on my way to work here in Waltham from my home at No. 56 Hale street in the West End.

"I have not seen either my mother or Mr. Di Cola since a year ago, when I attempted to have them get married according to law. At that time I wrote to my father, who, I think, is now in Italy, but I do not know, as I never received any answer from that letter. At the same time I wrote to my mother's sister in Termini and asked her to aid me in persuading the man and my mother to get married.

"They were not married at the time, I know. Whether they got married during the last year or not I could not say, but I do not think that they did.

SAW DI COLA SELDOM.

"I hardly ever saw Di Cola. I work hard and long, so as to take care of my family and have little time, but when I did see him, I always treated him politely, but nothing more, and he did the same by me.

"Mr. Di Cola never gave a cent to support me. My own father brought me up when I was very young. From the time that I was a small boy, I always supported myself, working at whatever I could, until I learned to be a barber.

"I came to Boston about thirteen years ago, and I was married here about five or six years ago. At that time, my mother knew who I was going to marry, helped me out, and some after I was married. Our relations were not close, but they were always friendly.

"I was always very anxious that Mr. Di Cola and my mother should marry. I did not think that the other way was right. The only reason that I ever interfered at all was for my mother's good. There was never a thought of myself at any time."

"Where my father is now, if he is not in Termini, I do not know. I do not know why he did not answer my letter a year ago. He has two brothers, Frank Bova, who lives in Baltimore, and Sam Bova, who lives in Providence, I think on Spruce street."

NO IDEA OF ASSAILANT.

Asked if he had any idea or any suspicion as to who murdered the rich merchant, he said: "I have not the slightest idea. I can't even imagine who did it or why anyone should commit the murder. Everyone always said that he was a good man without enemies. I am shocked at the crime."

When asked if he had ever written any threatening letters to his mother or Di Cola he answered quickly, "Of course not; why should I? Anything that I did about trying to make them marry was done in a friendly spirit. I wanted them to be married because it was the right thing to do. I have always been good and honest all my life, my father's people in the old country were always good, and I wanted her to marry rightly. Also I thought that if anything happened to Mr. Di Cola she ought to be married so that she would be protected.

"I do not know who will get his money. Of course my mother is entitled to some of it. Whether I am or not, I don't know. I make my pay and take care of my family, what more do I want. I have not seen my mother since reading of the crime, in fact I did not know until I read in the paper this morning where she was, but I am going over to see her today.

AT WORK IN SHOP.

"I can account for my time on Wednesday night. I worked overtime that night, I left Waltham at 9.15. I talked with two friends at Summer and Washington streets and I was home before 11 o'clock."

ANTONIO BOVA, West End barber, who declares that the supposed wife of Gaspare Di Cola is his mother.

Bova works in a barber shop at No. 685 Main street in Waltham. When a reporter came in there today he was cutting a customer's hair. He told part of his story, in straight-forward manner, while his shears were clipping around the customer's locks. As soon as Antonio's fellow-workman at another chair was free Antonio turned his customer over to the other man and sat down so that he could talk even more freely.

Detective Joseph F. Ferrari of the Hanover street police station, who has been digging on the Di Cola case on account of his knowledge of Italian affairs generally, questioned Antonio Bova today at the Waltham barber shop.

HASTENS TO DEDHAM.

Then Ferrari hastened out to Dedham, the county seat of Norfolk county. Brookline is a part of that county.

Ferrari went to the office of the Norfolk County District Attorney.

Revelations concerning the Di Cola home lead the police to believe that the wife can point the way to them if she will.

They look to her to furnish them not only the name of the assassin, but also the motive of the killing.

The police have refrained so far from persistent questioning of Mrs. Di Cola on account of the shattered condition of her nerves. She is under care at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Marchetti at No. 27 Doris street, Dorchester.

The moment she is physically able to submit to questioning she will be asked to tell all she knows.

The police believe that, right after he was shot, Di Cola talked with his sobbing wife about the assassin. Dr. Francis H. Bowley, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was one of the first on the scene. He rushed to find a telephone, then returned to the corner of Beacon and Fairbanks streets, where Di Cola lay bleeding on the sidewalk. Dr. Bowley heard Di Cola and his wife talking excitedly in Italian.

The police believe that Di Cola may have recognized the man who shot him, or if he did not see him directly, may have known intuitively who it was.

LIFE WAS THREATENED.

The Brookline police know that Di Cola had received blackmail letters. Within a year he received several. Three weeks ago one came demanding that he leave $25,000 near the Chestnut Hill reservoir under pain of death. Di Cola turned these letters over to Police Chief Corey of Brookline, who still has them.

But it is also known that Di Cola had paid blackmail, even though he had turned some letters over to the police. His wife knew, the police believe, that her husband had made payments of this kind.

Ernesto Martini, tobacco dealer at No. 325 Hanover street, counted himself as one of Di Cola's most intimate friends. He said today:

DEMANDS FOR MONEY.

"I have known for a year that Di Cola was never married to the woman with whom he has been living for the past twenty-six years. My family and another North End family have known this.

"I understand that frequent demands for money were made upon Di Cola and Mrs. Di Cola under threat that the secret of their disregard of the marriage conventions would be made public. I suspect that Di Cola and Mrs. Di Cola grew tired of paying this blackmail and refused to make any more payments.

"Di Cola was very much in love with her. He often said to me: 'I couldn't get along without her. If anything should happen to her I wouldn't care to live.'"

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength), take this home, add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take a tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat.

It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every one who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.—Advertisement.

Sixty Girls Entered for the Big Swim

Sixty girls are entered for the great Boston AMERICAN swim.

That means the twelfth annual girls' race for the swimming championship of New England, which will be conducted by the Boston AMERICAN tomorrow afternoon in the Charles River Basin.

Worcester, Providence and Ludlow experts are entered to compete against Greater Boston swimmers. This is open to New England girls, but the race has always been won by a Bostonian.

Entries closed at 6 o'clock last night with a final rush. Among the late entries was that of Cecelia Viandre, the sixteen-year-old Worcester maid who has beaten all comers in the waters of Lake Quinsigamond. Out in Worcester they call her the "Worcester Mermaid."

MADE GOOD SHOWING.

From the town of Ludlow Miss Irene Demers comes for her annual attempt for the Boston AMERICAN cup. Last year Miss Demers finished fourth. She is the champion girl athlete of Ludlow and vicinity, and she made a good mark for herself last year, even if she did not come in first.

Regina McGarry of No. 1127 Chalkstone avenue, Providence, is the Rhode Island entry.

The Boston girls know Miss Demers of Ludlow from last year. They realize that she will give the Boston camp a fast try for first place. But the Worcester "Mermaid" and the Providence entry are new appearances in the Boston AMERICAN classic. Their work will be watched with extra interest—especially by the other swimmers.

MANY WILL TRY AGAIN.

About a score of the girls entered for tomorrow were in last year's race. Elizabeth McArdle of South Boston, who came in second to Marion Gibson, the winner, last year, will be there tomorrow. With Marion Gibson not entered this year Miss McArdle may naturally figure that she can finish first.

Catherine Nuse, Gertrude Hallem and Rose Tonely, who were among the first ten last year, are back again for another try this year.

With these and other contestants of known ability and with the increased field of new entries, the 1916 race promises to be one of the most exciting since this series was inaugurated by the Boston AMERICAN eleven years ago.

Contestants are hereby instructed to report not later than 1:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the dressing tent on the Charles River esplanade, next to the Metropolitan Park Commission's quarters on the esplanade. From Boylston street either Arlington or Berkeley streets offer convenient routes to the starting point.

START AT 2:15.

The race is scheduled to start at 2:15, so it is necessary for contestants to allow at least a half-hour in order to get into their swimming togs and have their racing numbers pinned on the backs of their suits.

The entries for the race and the numbers by which swimmers may be told are as follows:

The Treatment of Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for Influenza or La Grippe, in an article in the "Lancet-Clinic." Dr. James Bell, of New York City, says so is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious.

When called to a case of la grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasionally ushers in the disease, has practically passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts. "Actolds" or citrate of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one anti-kamnin tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

Blackmailers Try to Kill Boston Informer

Mrs. Regina C. Klipper, well-to-do Philadelphia woman, who was victimized by the blackmailers and kidnaped in an effort to prevent her from assisting government investigators.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Frank Crocker, the government's main source of information in the blackmailing cases now under secret service investigation, narrowly escaped murder following his disclosures. It was only his own wit that saved him.

"They tried to bump him off in Boston, that's certain. But he was too foxy for them. He beat the scheme himself without the help of our men," said an officer high in the secret service.

After Crocker had given much valuable information that helped to find the social gangsters at the Tyson apartments in Chicago, he was escorted to Boston. There, it was thought, he would be out of sight.

But the news of the government raids upon the underworld men and women spread fast, and one evening, as Crocker started down from his room to the lobby of his Boston hotel, he ran into danger.

As the door of the elevator opened, he saw two men standing in the lobby. Immediately he recognized one man as a bitter enemy. This man, who was a former trans-Atlantic gambler, had threatened to "get" Crocker on a former occasion.

Suddenly this man turned on his heel and caught sight of Crocker. He started toward the elevator. Crocker stepped back inside and to the astonishment of the elevator boy, slid shut the door. He lost no time in getting to his room, where he caught up a hair packed bag, hurried down a corridor, and went downstairs by another elevator. He left the hotel and was away from Boston in half an hour.

MISSING GIRL FAILS TO APPEAR

Providence, Sept. 22.—The mystery of the disappearance of Miss Mildred E. Dawson, the nineteen-year-old telephone operator at Narragansett Pier exchange, increased today, following the failure of the girl to meet her sweetheart, George Sheldon of Wakefield, and her mother at the Union Station here when she had given Sheldon to understand that she would be there.

Sheldon told Chief Inspector William F. O'Neil that he received a telephone call from Miss Dawson yesterday afternoon; that she told him she was talking from a Providence drug store, and that she might start home at 6 o'clock that evening.

Sheldon told her, he says, that he would get her mother and meet her at the 8 o'clock train for the pier. Sheldon and the mother, Mrs. Kathleen Dawson, were on hand, and Providence officers were there as well, expecting to see Miss Dawson. But the telephone operator didn't appear. The disappointed mother and Sheldon left after an hour's wait. The police kept watch in and out of the station until midnight.

Miss Dawson left home Tuesday, telling her mother that she was going to Arctic Centre, ten miles from here, to visit Marian Johnson, a Pembroke College co-ed, whom she said she met at the pier last Summer. She was due back Wednesday noon. Late Wednesday Miss Daisy M. Burke, chief operator at the Pier exchange, telephoned the Providence police about Miss Dawson, said she had not been seen at home or work and asking that search be made for her. She said Miss Dawson had considerable money on her, probably $50.

The mystery was complicated by a statement of Police Chief Theodore Andrews of Arctic Centre that he knew no Marian Johnson in that town. But later it was reported that Miss Johnson did live there and that she saw Miss Dawson to the train.

Miss Dawson is five feet and three inches tall and of medium build. When she left home she wore a white skirt, pink waist, blue coat and blue hat.

5TH AVENUE HOUSE FOR VINCENT ASTOR

New York, Sept. 22.—Painters have been put to work on the grille work of the Astor residence, No. 840 Fifth avenue, after finishing redecorating the interior. Their appearance at the outside was in the nature of an announcement that within another fortnight Vincent Astor and his wife, who was Helen Dinsmore Huntington, would take up their abode there.

Mr. and Mrs. Astor will make the house the theatre of more pretentious social activities than any they have attempted during their brief married life, it is said.

STEALING MAY BE BASE, BUT BASE STEALING IS NECESSARY FOR SUCCESS IN BASEBALL

Robinson Is Reinstated

Harris Stars at Centre

At a meeting of the faculty board at Harvard, which deals with the re-admission of students into the university, William Farr Robinson, star Harvard quarterback, was adjudged eligible to represent the Crimson again in football.

Robinson, who is the only "H" man on the varsity quarterback squad, incurred faculty displeasure last Spring because of low standing in certain of his studies. To make up the deficiency, the young star entered the Harvard Summer School, where he succeeded in passing the required tests.

Only official recognition of his reinstatement, however, would allow him to play on the varsity team, and this the college gave out today.

Robinson has been out of practice for two days, being at his home in Philadelphia and it is very doubtful if he will be allowed to start against Colby tomorrow.

Billy Boles, star back on last Fall's team, was readmitted into college, but with the understanding that he cannot try for the football team this season. He will be eligible to play next Fall. Tom Rawright's plea for reinstatement has not yet been heard by the governing board.

Stung to the quick by the repeated inferences of the Harvard football coaches that they lacked ability, likewise courage, as well as about everything else that goes to make winning football, the Crimson varsity eleven arose in its might and before the hour allotted for scrimmage had passed defeated the fighting second team, 28-0.

The scrubs fought back as hard as they knew how, but were outgeneraled, as well as outfought. They were a more battered crew when play ceased than they have been on any afternoon since practice started this Fall.

The scrimmage was featured with hair-raising runs and strong line plunges by the Harvard backs. "Hank" Flower, the sophomore back, flipped his way right and left through the scrubs' rushline, and was a pretty busy fellow until Eddie Casey took his place.

Flower made the first touchdown on one of his famous end runs. A neat twenty-five yard dash through a honeycombed field of black jerseys, he showed great form as long as he was in.

Rule Bond shone on the defence and also had time to make two fine runs and drop kick a goal from the 25-yard line. Eddie Casey was chain lightning in his movements. He contributed several solo runs, and made one dash of fifteen yards for a touchdown.

Burnham and Minot also registered touchdowns, and Mosley Taylor kicked a goal after Flower's score. It was the only one attempted after a touchdown.

Jim Harris' steadiness as snapper-back played a small part in the dispatch with which the varsity backfield got under way. His pass to Bond, for the latter's drop kick, was worthy of copyright. On the defence Jess was all arms and legs, and the officials had to dig for him after nearly every scrimmage.

NAVY HOLDS FIRST PRACTICE OF YEAR

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 22.—The Navy's football practice started yesterday when the members of last year's squad returned from their vacations. The men got down to real work under the direction of a corps of coaches, headed by Lieutenant Jenus Ingram, who directed the work last season. The season for the Sailors will open on October 30 against Dickinson College.

The work of Martin and Hoefer at quarter was the point on which most of the interest centred, as it is admitted that during the past several seasons the Sailors' big weakness has been in generalship.

45 IN PRINCETON FOOTBALL SQUAD

Lake Minnewaska, N. Y., Sept. 22.—With the exception of McLean, a varsity tackle, who is badly needed, the Tiger squad is as complete as it will be until it returns to Princeton. McLean is expected to arrive at Minnewaska before the end of the week. Egerstadt, for whom the coaches have also been waiting, has arrived and participated in the practice. There are forty-five men in the squad. Parisette and Halsey, two other varsity tackles, will join the squad at Princeton.

WANT THORPE TO COACH.

New York, Sept. 23.—Tom Thorpe of Columbia has been tendered a enticing offer as coach for St. John's football team. It is expected that he will sign the contract within a few days.

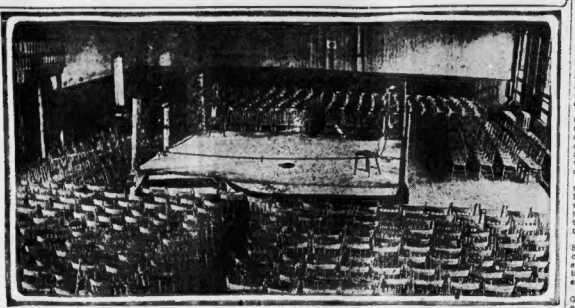
VIEW of the ring and arena of the Commercial Athletic Club, which is on the fourth floor of a building, with poor facilities for handling a crowd of "members," usually numbering 1,000. The club is run by Robert K. McKirdy, who is in office with John J. Curley, brother of Mayor Curley.



City Official Runs Boxing Club

"get by" so far has been one of the mysteries of Boston's sporting circles. Efforts to obtain the facts of what the "club" did, how it was able to hold bouts and take in money enough to pay a high rental, how it spent its money, if any money was spent for necessary "influence," were met with.

"See McKirdy at City Hall."

An AMERICAN photographer went to the "club" to take photographs of the clubrooms. There were no "members" in the rooms, which consisted of a few small outer rooms and the main living room of the club, which consisted of the usual boxing or prize fight arena, with the raised roped arena exactly like that in which such noted artists as Jimmy J. Jeffries, James J. Corbett, "Porky" Flynn and Professor "Sandy" Ferguson have displayed the scientific and athletic value of the manly art of self-defence.

The photographer took the picture and as he came down the stairway to the street, three large, athletic belligerent members of the "club" barred the way.

"You're from the AMERICAN, and you'll have to break that plate before you get out of this building," said one of the "clubmen."

"Say, one of you fellows call McKirdy," said another.

McKirdy was called on the 'phone at City Hall and a long conversation went on. Meanwhile the photographer was penned in.

Finally he threatened to call the police on the telephone and then the "clubmen" allowed him to go, his plate intact. It produced one of the few pictures of a prize fight arena, ever published in Massachusetts, where public boxing bouts and prize fights are prohibited and illegal.

THE STATE LAW.

The State law relating to boxing bouts is as follows:

Whoever engages in or gives or promotes a public boxing match or sparring exhibition, or whoever engages in a private boxing match or sparring exhibition, for which the contestants have received or have been promised any pecuniary reward, remuneration or consideration whatsoever, directly or indirectly, shall be punished by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The regular weekly bouts were scheduled for the Commercial A. C. tonight, but it is assumed that the directors of the club feared a repetition of the Arena scene last Tuesday night, when Terry Brooks, the newsboy boxer, was roughly handled and beaten by admirers of Joe Connelly, when Brooks fouled.

Connelly was scheduled to go on in the main fight this evening, with Eddie Flynn of Peabody as his opponent. The bout was later called off, but another one was listed for next Friday night between Mike Crowley of Malden and Freddie Tells of Taunton.

President McKirdy of the Commercial A. C., in an interview, denied that the club called off the Connelly-Flynn bout because of fear of trouble, but rather to make repairs which were deemed necessary. He further stated that Connolly or any other boxer was not barred from the C. A. C. and that Connelly would be put on at the West End club in the near future.

Secretary Mike Green said he expected about a thousand fans would be present next Friday. Alterations are now being made in the club rooms to give accommodations for more spectators and better ventilation.

The rooms of the municipal athletic "club" are at the top of three flights of winding, narrow, ill-lighted stairs. On the second floor is a pool room and bowling alleys, and on the third floor are the clubrooms of the "Lenox Associates."

How a thousand persons manage to stumble down the stairs without piling in a heap at the bottom is another of the mysteries raised by the investigation of the "club," which so far has apparently been unmolested by police.

NEXT TO HENDRICKS CLUB.

Considerable secrecy surrounds the identity of the men associated with McKirdy of City Hall in running the municipal athletic club. Other "politicians" are said to be in on its operations and several stirrings have been found leading from the clubrooms at No. 7 Green street to City Hall.

By a strange chance, the club happens to be right next door to the Hendricks Club, where Rose Martin Lomasney's many followers are wont to gather for an evening of sociability and conversation.

"We expect to pay high rent when we're next to Lomasney's club and the Revere House," said Secretary Mike Green of the "club" during the course of a somewhat reticent conversation, in which the size of the $900 a month rental was discussed.

"Mr. McKirdy at City Hall will tell you about it," said employes in the office of the Emerson estate executors at No. 23 Kingston street when asked concerning the rent of the club rooms and who pays it.

McKirdy, the City Hall employe, is one of Lomasney's staunch henchmen.

The strange, but efficient manner, in which McKirdy and his mysterious associates obtained possession of the hall so quickly after the millionaires had vacated this Spring and put on Louts for their "club members" forms one of the interesting phases of the investigation, as showing the City Hall connections with the "club."

Vouchers in the city auitor's office show that until April of this year the rent of the hall was paid by the city Company L vacated in March but hardly were they out than the "squared circle" made its appearance in the hall and a little later the "Commercial Athletic Club"—was entertaining members and numerous guests at $1 to exhibitions of fistic skill.

CITY PAID RENT TO APRIL.

A provision in the city's lease for the use of the clubroom as an armory provided that the lease could be renewed each year until January 31, 1917. It was not renewed February 1 this year but the city paid rent until April, when it became the municipal athletic club's headquarters.

Today Superintendent of Public Buildings Lynch showed a copy of a letter dated Feb. 25, notifying the Emerson estate executors that the city would vacate the top floor at No. 7 Green street on March 31.

"We didn't mail the letter until a few days later, however," said Superintendent Lynch, "because we weren't sure that the militiamen would be out by the end of the month. So that, while the letter was dated Feb. 25, it was doubtful whether we gave thirty days' notice before March 31.

"And," he added, "you can see we couldn't have written that letter today."

Members of the State Police declared today that they had never experienced any difficulty obtaining convictions against promoters of boxing bouts in Massachusetts where the bouts were held at frequent intervals, when called on by the Governor to do so.

"The Supreme Court has ruled," said an official, "that where a boxing bout is accessible to the public, it is a public bout and a violation of the law, whether or not those attending had to stand on their heads or walk backwards or do other things before being admitted.

"Clubs holding bouts think that by having those admitted sign membership cards they cover the law, but under the interpretation of the court, all that has to be shown is that the bouts were accessible to the public.

NO FEE CHARGED.

"We haven't enough men in the State detective department to get evidence against violators of the boxing law and we also feel that it is a matter that should be handled by the local police of the cities where they are held."

No fee is charged its members by the Commercial Athletic Club. Membership cards have been issued broadcast.

At the office of the executors of the Emerson estate, No. 23 Kingston street, considerable reticence prevailed for some time after the arrival of an AMERICAN reporter.

Miss Margaret J. Stout, who has charge of the Emerson office, said she didn't know if the City Hall lease had expired, and didn't even know the name of the man who now takes over the rent to her.

"We know that the rent is paid," she said. "What do you want to know for? There must be some motive in back of this. It looks as if somebody's scalp would be lifted."

Later she said:

"Well, if you'll come back in an hour I may be able to let you know, as I'll have to call up someone on the telephone."

In an hour the reporter was back, and Miss Stout said:

"No to Mr. McKirdy at City Hall, in the collecting department. He'll tell you all about it."

McKirdy had something to say about the municipal athletic club he is conducting. It was:

"You thought the city was paying for the rent of the club room, eh? Well, they're not. The floor's been leased by the Commercial Athletic Club. We pay our own rent. I'm the president.

"When you saw me up there this morning I was having my lunch hour. I won't say who the directors of the club are.

"How much rent are we paying? Oh, about as much as the city paid. That's all I can tell you."

Green Warriors Are Greeted by Pres. Hopkins

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 22.—A great crowd of students witnessed what might be called the official opening of Dartmouth's football season, when President Ernest M. Hopkins came on to the field, accompanied by Graduate Manager Pender, and greeted the coaches and members of the Green squad.

After shaking hands with Head Coach Cavanaugh, his assistants, Capt. Gerrish and the players, President Hopkins delivered a short address on the Dartmouth spirit in sport and what it meant in after life as well as during the student's college days.

Dussoosit and Emery, who bid fair to develop into the best wing men Dartmouth has boasted since the days when Loudon and Hogsett held down the end positions, were on the first team, with Turner and Cotton at tackles.

The work of the scrub tackles, Storrs and Healey, however, stood out conspicuously, and it would not be surprising if they were given a chance in tomorrow's game with New Hampshire State.

Barrows and Merrill, guards, and Olle, centre, comprised the remainder of the varsity line.

McDonough and R. Holbrook, quarterbacks, and Duhamel, fullback, are all temporarily out of the game.

Thalacher, Ponder and Gerrish composed the first team backfield, but they failed to provide any features. White, star at left halfback on the scrubs, gained consistently through the first team's line.

TUFTS TO REFEREE HARVARD-YALE GAME

Nate Tufts of Waltham, former Waltham High coach and present State Senator, has been appointed to referee the Harvard-Yale, Yale-Princeton, Dartmouth-Pennsylvania and Dartmouth-Syracuse games. Tufts will also handle the Georgetown-Tulane game at New Orleans Christmas Day, as well as the Georgetown-Havana game, in Cuba, New Year's Day.

Bill Langford of Trinity has been named to referee Harvard's games with Cornell, Virginia, Princeton and Brown. He will also be in charge of the Army-Navy combat.

BRAE-BURN PLAYER TURNS IN LOW CARD

J. Nelson Manning, Brae-Burn, led a field of 107 starters in the qualifying round of the open amateur tournament at the Winchester Country Club. Manning turned in a score of 81, which is the best that has been done over the new 18-hole course.

Willard Earns Nearly $300,000 as Ring Champion

Portland, Ore., Sept. 22.—By November or December Jess Willard will have cleaned up in the neighborhood of $300,000 since he won the heavyweight championship, and he then will be ready to take his opponents on just as fast as they come.

This was the assertion today of Tom Jones, the champion's manager. Jones said that Fred Fulton, the Minnesota heavyweight, probably would be Jess' first opponent.

"Jess can get ready for any of 'em on two weeks notice," said Tom.

Sheldon Is Back In His Togs With Yale

New Haven, Sept. 22.—Harry Le Gore started in Yale's practice by dropping a difficult field goal from the thirty-five-yard line, and registering a touchdown after a brilliant end run.

Bob Bingham and Emil Jacques, Le Gore's backfield companions, raced over the scrub goal line with a touchdown each. The scrubs made a sorry showing.

A new second team backfield combination was tried in Ames, Metcalf, Waite and Hutchinson.

The Yale artillery battalion was disbanded, giving the football squad twenty new candidates, eight of whom reported, including "Chub" Sheldon, left tackle last Fall, Kelley, Bogardice and Duryee are expected out today.

DALY INJURED AND WON'T DEFEND TITLE

New York, Sept. 22.—John J. Daley of the Irish-American A. C. and national two-mile steeplechase champion, will be unable to defend his title in this event at the Fall athletic meet of the New York A. C., Travers Island, tomorrow. Daley is laid up with a strained ligament, received while training at Celtic Park, and his withdrawal from the championship race has been announced.

LAST NIGHT IN THE RING.

New York, Sept. 22.—Johnny Burt knocked out Jimmy Allen in four rounds, and John Lester Johnson went ten rounds to a draw with Jack Herrick at the Olympic Club.

Ebbets Plans to Boost Prices at Big Show

New York, Sept. 22.—President Charles H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn Dodgers intends to raise the price of tickets to world's series games.

Box seats will remain the same, at $15, but many of the reserved seats behind the boxes will sell for $5 instead of $3.

Shore to Open Series with Indians

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—After winning three straight games from the Detroit Tygers it was only natural that the World's Champions should feel considerable cocky upon their arrival here this morning to commence a four-game series with the Indians.

Although a majority of the Boston players are confident that "it's all over but the shouting," Manager Carrigan is cautioning them on over-confidence, setting forth that it's not a mathematical impossibility for the Red Sox to lose out.

Carrigan regards the clashes with the Indians as just as supreme a test as his boys were called upon to face in Chicago and Detroit.

SOX WON'T LET UP.

Although the Red Sox won five out of six games from the White Sox and Tygers, the leader of the pacemakers declares that he fears the general result here even more than he did against the Red Sox's two most formidable contenders. But maybe General Bill is bluffing.

"The Tygers and White Sox were just as much on edge as my boys," said Carrigan, "while the Indians have absolutely no pennant worries, as they are mathematically eliminated from the reckoning. Fohl's men will not be under any strain when they take the field, while my boys will be travelling on high as far as their nerves are concerned.

"We cannot afford to relax now, for the flag is within our grasp and if we let down, even in the slightest, we are liable to spill the beans."

TRIS & CO., HOPEFUL.

The Red Sox have never been any too popular with the Indians, and each and every member of Fohl's tribe will work his head off to make a clean sweep of the series with the league leaders. If such a thing is possible.

Tris Speaker is especially anxious to win from his old team mates, as the Indians have garnered only six victories in sixteen games against the Red Sox this season, and Tris feels as though he owes Bill Carrigan's crowd something. If Speaker and his fellow team mates can take the pennant away from Boston by winning four games, it will be done.

Jim Bagby will be sent against the Red Sox in the opening game. Bagby has always been effective against the leaders, but none too lucky. Manager Carrigan will probably pin his dependency on Ernie Shore.

All Detroit Concedes Pennant to Red Sox.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—The Tygers and Tygerland fans concede the pennant to the Red Sox. Hughie Jennings' athletes didn't wait until the final game was over, either. They were satisfied with the first two encounters and performed listlessly yesterday, though 10,000 loyal fans turned out to see them fight their way a portion of the way back, at least.

Ruth had the junaleers at his mercy at all stages, except in the fourth, when a couple of foemen got around to the far side of the diamond with two out and Stanage smacked the apple for a single long enough to clear the paths.

At no time was the game in doubt. The expected slashing duel between Coveleskie and Ruth didn't pan out at all, because the Pole was far from right and mostly "leaky."

He lost a grand chance to become the league's leading pitcher, however, for a victory would have put him within one game of Johnson's winning record for the season and permitted the Pole and the Swede to fight out the matter here in Detroit over the week-end.

SOX HOLD SWATFEST.

There were plenty of stars in the farewell game, because the Red Sox found nothing in the deliveries of Coveleskie, Boland or Cunningham to punish.

Tillie Walker was a constellation in himself. He started the day by knocking the ball over Cobb's head for a home run in the first inning and later on got a triple and two walks.

As if this were not enough, Walker pulled two swell running catches, one a leaping one-hand spear over by the wall in left centre.

Ruth didn't have so bad a day either. A single, a triple and a pass were added to his splendid pitching.

BARRY WASN'T MISSED.

The Red Sox showed as much in Detroit as they did a year ago. The absence of Speaker and Barry didn't make any difference with the general play of the club.

In his two games Shorten scored three runs, made two hits, one a double, and walked once. Walker scored two runs in his lone start and performed as noted in a preceding paragraph.

Janvrin was on the bases a lot and pulled some fielding that would make Barry fret for his job. So far as general results were concerned, the Red Sox performed in Detroit at full strength.

ALL SAINTS NINE BATTLES NEPONSET

A fast game is expected when the All Saints baseball club clashes with Neponset in the second game of their series at Fenway Park at 2 15 tomorrow. Neponset has one victory to its credit, but the Roxbury outfit is confident that it will reverse the tables tomorrow. The lineup:

All Saints—Danner 2b., Lyons 1b., White c.f., H. Bond c., Cooney 3b., Bond s.s., Miller l.f., W. Bond r.f., Madden p.
Neponset—Lally 2b., Mongie 1f., Gleason c.f., Heyl 1b., Kelly 3b., Murphy r.f., Doyle s.s., Martin c. and Walsh p.

Braves' Chances Slim

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

This afternoon C. Mathewson and his world's champion goat getters make their Adelina Patti on the green at Braves Field. Inasmuch as the writer has faithfully predicted that the Braves would trounce the Reds on each of the previous days today he refrains from hazarding a guess.

Chances are that either Ed Reulbach or Pat Ragan will hurl for Stallings. Mathewson, having rested Fred Toney since Saturday, may decide to send the big fellow out to further aid his college chum, Wilbert Robinson.

Just why the Braves dropped yesterday's game is indeed difficult to figure. It's easier to figure that they have probably dropped themselves out of the hunt for the gonfalon. The old mathematical chance still exists, but it's only a chance, and a slim one at that. Stallings' athletes haven't given up the battle as yet, however.

They will be out there fighting this afternoon and making strenuous effort to land a game from the Reds, with the hope in view that possibly the other two clubs will be in the dropping mood.

As was remarked yesterday, the Mattys look like About as good a chance as ever represented Cincinnati in the brawls. They have an abundance of life and dash, and in addition are able to bolt the old pellet around in highly classy fashion. They look better each time they show, and with any kind of luck next season should figure as first division possibilities.

PIRATES COME NEXT.

Matty is nursing the bunch along in polished fashion, and with his ability to handle men should get much from them in another season.

When the Reds leave town tonight they simply make room for the Brunswick for Jimmy Callahan and his Pirate horde. The latter are here for a big flock of games, and where as many had figures it would be them to knock the Braves right out of the race it wouldn't be at all surprising if the reverse were to happen. The Phillies Rocket Maranville and Cooper to cover Wednesday but yesterday a new owner, chimes, handed it to Eppa Jeptha Rixey and will probably arrive in town with Mamaux primed to stick against the Braves.

It may be that Al gets a severe shock. It may be that the Braves, whom he man-handled on their last visit to Philadelphia, may turn on him like angry wolves and soundly trounce him.

While the Braves are playing the Pirates the Robins battle Joe Tinker's Cubs and the Phillies go against the Reds. It is a moral certainty that Tinker does his utmost to send the Robins to Harrison Island or to Jim Gaffney's new plant on Staten Island. He thinks as much of C. Holiday Ebbetts as a normal man does of the smallpox.

CHANCES FAVOR PHILLIES.

Chances would seem to favor the Phillies from now on, for the Pittsburgs are favored slightly in the next few days. However, if the Reds sustain the clip they have shown here no team that faces them is favored. They are apt to step out and knock the last ball club in the land into smithereens. With any sort of luck Mornn, Alexander and company should get the big end from the Reds.

When they go into a clinch with the Robins and if they repeat their recent performances against the same club they should experience but little difficulty in beating them. The Braves and Phillies close the season while the Robins are battling the Giants. McGraw will be forced to keep his club keyed at top speed to prove the game honest. He cannot afford to let them slow up the least bit.

If the Giants step along at their best pace there is not a chance for the Robins to win the pennant. Should the Giants slow up, however, and the Robins win the rest of their games, they will go to Brooklyn with a chance to win the flag. Should the Robins win the pennant it will be about the task of getting World's Series tickets ready. The teams that don't land will go to swelling expense, that is unless the National Commission sees fit to reimburse them later, out of the cloud which hovers over the Braves' chances there comes the ray of light in the firm belief and conviction that the Red Sox will lead.

"BEATRICE FAIRFAX"

Novelized From the Great Film Play

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

By Beatrice Fairfax

(Novelized from the scenario of Basil Dickey and produced in motion pictures by Wharton, Inc., Studios for the International Film Service)

WHEN Versale pulled me out of my hiding place in the recess back of the Ainsley grand stairway and dragged me after him, I was not left long in doubt as to his intentions as I plainly felt him fold over to the great Dane window, lifted me thru and I landed somewhere on the grounds after him. Suddenly my wonder as to another matter was solved, too.

The gray speedster, which had vanished from my vision early in the evening, now loomed before it with dark menace. It was parked in a little turn of a side street. I realized that Versale was carrying me toward it. Evidently he mistook me for Martha Ainsley. —I dared fint undersolve him, but I struggled desperately to free myself from him, and in the struggle the little mask which had been covering my features, loosened and fell

I could see a flicker of recognition cross Versale's face. And then suddenly, to my very great amazement, he caught me even more firmly in his clutching grip and fairly flung me into the speedster. In another second the driver had started the powerful engine and we were whizzing up the road.

Long experience in adventuring with him had taught me to expect Jimmy Barton always to arrive in the very nick of time. So I had really begun to feel a fearless young woman. But sudden, let us call it discomfort assailed me. Being aloned with by a Southern adventurer was one thing, art's costume I had dared to copy, was not a particularly pleasant adventure

At Desperate Speed

And to add to the unpropitiousness of the occasion, I had been given one glimpse of the tan chauffeur's face. He looked like an unpleasant combination of prizefighter, second-story man and lower East Side gangster. Substituting in Martha Ainsley's elopement was the least pleasant role in which I had ever found myself cast.

On and on we plunged at desperate speed. The road spun out behind me like a bobbin of ribbon, silky and bright, while all about us lay utter gloom.

Where was Jimmy Barton? He seemed to be postponing my rescue dist long, for Versale's grip of my arm had changed to an unpleasant resemblance to my elders' struggle with Ivy Tendy that only endless years of childhood fun for me. Interferers have to lose what they get when they're discovered with. You cheated your self in Martha Ainsley's place. All right. Now Butch and I will [illegible]

It was not a particularly savory [illegible] involving the [illegible] of the case in my mind. If I screamed there was no one to hear me. If I struggled I would only be bruised as I battered for my pains. So I suddenly decided on seeming acquiescence, and I went quite limp in Versale's arms. After all, the real struggle was coming later, and it was best that I should save my energy for that.

But where was Jimmy Barton?

Now, I must carry you back to Jimmy's adventurous the while I ventured to Versale's side in the conservatory and began the train of play acting which led to the substitution in which I was forced to play so unwelcome a part later.

Jimmy Meets Nita

At the foot of the grand stairway behind which I was destined to do so much hiding of lovelorn Jimmy met Nita, the maid. She signalled to him to follow her and led him up the stairway to her own little room under the eaves. Then she turned and flung herself into his arms with a truly southern abandon of feeling.

For a moment Jimmy was puzzled as to the cause of this unsought honors and then he remembered that his domino was exactly like the one Versale was wearing. That astute young man readily figured out that the charming little mistress Versale had not been above philandering with the maid.

Nita, the maid, tears the mask from the face of Jimmy Barton (Harry Fox) and discovers that she has been fooled.

The correctness of his deduction was proven a second later, for the girl tore herself from his arms, caught both his hands and whispered, "Every one of her jewels is in the bag—$20,000 worth. Remember when she turns it over to you, you drop her and send for me. You will, won't you, Louis?"

Jimmy assured her that such were his plans. But however good his imitation of Versale, something of Southern warmth must have been missing from his manner for the girl turned on him with desperate determination to know the truth

"I believe you are lying. Let me see your face," she cried

Jimmy Takes No Chances

Then she reached up quickly and tore off his mask. At sight of Jimmy's generally fairly welcome face, she jumped back with incomplimentary horror. It was very evident that she meant to scream and rouse the house, but in an emergency like this, Jimmy did not propose to let the fact that she was a woman daunt him.

He caught her in a vigorous clasp, gagged her with his handkerchief and imprisoned her in the further side of a closet door, which he locked. Then he picked up his mask and crept quietly down the grand stairway.

Next he sauntered jauntily into the ballroom, where he found Martha, who was easy enough to identify as the girl always surrounded by the largest group of young men. Presently Miss Ainsley detached herself from this group, took the arm of her chosen suitor, Louis Versale, and strolled with him to the conservatory.

Jimmy followed them and crouched back of some magnificent ferns, which must have been the pride of the Ainsley gardener. He heard a little bit of love making quite according to Hoyle, and then an earnest direction from a lover to his lady fair: "Hand your bag to me at the dining room window. It's much too heavy for you to carry. I'll take it on through, and then you stroll out the door as if you were getting a bit of fresh air, and come to the car at the corner."

Jimmy smiled in his cynical way He knew perfectly well that Mr. Versale's present plan was to possess himself of her bag, take it, the maid, as passenger in his car, and when Miss Ainsley strolled out, according to directions, to have neither car, nor jewels, nor suitor waiting for her.

Jimmy's Little Scheme

Jimmy felt now that he was completely in possession of the enemy's plans and passwords, so he hurried back to Robert Wells' side and told that youth to delay his rival as much as possible.

Promptly Robert hurried over to Versale and began conversing with him with an animation which must have surprised that hitherto unwelcomed rival.

Southern suavity met Bob half way Jimmy waited to be sure that Mr. Versale was temporarily disposed of and then he hurried over and crouched outside the window waiting for Martha Ainsley to come and hand that black walrus bag, with its precious cargo of jewels, to the faithless Versale.

Martha followed instructions with an obedience worthy of the women of a hundred years ago. She handed out the bag and disappeared directly the familiar domino had taken it.

Then Jimmy climbed back through the window and presented the bag to me, Of course, he thought it would be perfectly safe in my keeping. How could he know that I would mistake Versale for him, even as Versale mistook me for Martha, and that the Ainsley-Versale elopement would be completed—with complications?

And as I went whirling up the road with two unscrupulous men in possession of me as prisoner and $20,000 worth of jewels as booty, how could I know of the blackeyed maid who was bidden gagged in a closet or any other of the particulars which might have reassured me—or frightened me—accruing to my reading of the evidence against my captor?

Stories from Here and There

Pretty Strong

A grocer found that two of his Gargantuan cheeses were ripe to retasteless, so he put them outside the shop one night in the hope that somebody would steal them.

In the morning one was gone, and the grocer was glad. That night he put the other one out again Then the next morning his wife heard him cursing and swearing as he opened the shop

"What's the matter, Jim?" she asked. "Isn't it gone?"

"Not only it ain't gone," Jim answered, "but the other one has walked back."

Could Catch Him

With pathetic tears on her baby cheeks, little Ethel ran up to a big, stalwart policeman.

"Policeman, sir," she sobbed, "will you come and lick a bad man up?"

"What's he been doing?" asked the man in blue, gently

"Oh—boo—boo," wailed Ethel. "he's b-b-broken up my hoop wif 'is nasty motor cycle."

"He has?" replied the officer, angrily, as he saw her tears flow afresh, "where is he?"

"Oh, you'll easily catch 'im" said Ethel, drying her tears. "They've just carried 'im into that drug store on a shutter!"

Wife Was Awful

A good story is that about a man who one day told his wife he would give her all the money he found in his purse or pockets which were coined in the year she was born.

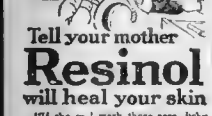
As a result the lady in due course of time had quite an amount of silver to hand, so much in fact, that she went to the bank and deposited it in her name.

Then, speaking to the cashier, the lady said:

"My husband tells me you are going to pay him some money today. Won't you please pay him in this silver I have just deposited? I will be so much obliged to you if you will."

Of course the cashier, being noted for his courtesy to the ladies, quickly replied that he would be happy to please her.

As a result the lady has still more birthday money.



Tell your mother

Resinol will heal your skin

"If she will wash those sore, itchy places twice a day with Resinol soap and hot water, and then put on a little Resinol Ointment, I am sure the trouble will soon disappear."

That is good advice. Patches of eruption may not be anything serious at first, but they cause so much discomfort and so often develop into eczema, or other severe ailments, that it pays to use the Resinol treatment right away.

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap have been prescribed by physicians for many years, and contain nothing which could possibly irritate the tenderest skin. Sold by all druggists. For free sample of each, write to Dept. 6-R., Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Even up in the offices of Hale & Bainbridge, freshened by the whirring of many electric fans, the heat was disagreeably noticeable. Down on the street level, it was intense.

As Agnes Morley and Hasbrook Bainbridge stepped out of the office building, the girl caught her breath. The city was hot, and the sun shone through a haze that seemed to make its rays more oppressive than usual. Everything—including humidity—was a bath of steam vapor.

"It is awful!" Agnes exclaimed. "It surely is," her companion agreed, signaling a passing taxicab. "I want to go down to Asher's restaurant on Park Row, you know," he told the driver. Then he added to Agnes, "We'd die if we tried to walk it."

"Oh, we could walk—easily," she began, but he laughed away her protests.

"A slender thing like you might not mind," he said, "but a stout old party like myself would melt into a great grease spot."

She laughed in return. Seated in the cab, she leaned back and drew a long breath.

"It's good to feel this air on one's face—isn't it?" she said.

She did not know where Asher's was and wondered if it was one of those porcelain-lettered restaurants with which she had become so well acquainted of late. If so, she hoped that none of the clerks from the office would be there.

He spoke on this subject were [illegible] as the taxi stopped in front of a tall stone building. An elevator bore the couple to a great airy restaurant many floors above the street.

"We want a table near a window," Bainbridge told the head waiter.

"Oh, what a view!" Agnes exclaimed, when she could get over the sight of many tall buildings.

THE FOOD EXCELLENT

"The food here is as good as the view," Bainbridge said. "Will you suggest something you want, or shall I do the ordering?"

"You do it, please," she replied.

"It must be something suited to this weather," he explained to her, catching her wondering eye as he finished his talk with the waiter.

It certainly was such a meal as one would like in mid-summer, she reflected. It was also such a meal as she was unaccustomed to.

First, there was cherry-stone clams on a bed of cracked ice. Then came jellied essence of tomato in cups. After this was cold roast capon with a Spanish salad, and last of all, ice cream in halved peaches, if fresh peaches are used, and thirty-five minutes for canned peaches.

Agnes Enjoys a Fine Luncheon

CHAPTER XXXIV.

A SUBTLE COMPLIMENT.

He looked at her gravely. "I have always liked you since the first time I met you," he said slowly. "It may be presumptuous but I do not know"—bending across the table and lowering his voice—"I have often had a notion that you and I might become very good friends in time—if you are willing."

They had finished their dessert, and she had dove a her napkin with a swift movement.

"It is getting late and I must hurry back to the office," she declared

"Wait a minute, child," he begged. "I did not mean to annoy you by what I said just now. Forget it if you want to. And try to forgive a very lonely middle-aged man who has had a pleasant hour today in the company of an unspoiled girl. I am sorry if I presumed. You will forgive it, won't you?"

She met his appealing gaze frankly. All at once her recurring embarrassment seemed ridiculous.

"There is nothing to forgive," she replied "I was foolish to answer as I did. I appreciate your offer of friendship, Mr. Bainbridge, and I thank you for it. I have not many friends," she added. "And I, too, get pretty lonely sometimes."

"Well, you have a friend here you can count upon," he assured her, "and one who would be honored if you ever thought him fit to be of any service to you."

All trace of gallantry had gone from his tone and manner. Agnes Morley told herself that she must have imagined its presence just now.

Living Up to Ideals

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"It is so easy to drift back, to sink! So hard to live abreast of what you think."

Having courage and having the courage of our own convictions seem unfortunately far apart in this world. They lie at the poles of physical and moral bravery

Being a moral coward is a far more tragic thing than being a physical one. Shrinking from physical pain may not be a sign of weakness at all in one who has the moral courage to hold himself firmly to his own standards of enduring things bravely.

Even a weakling may have his magnificent moments of meeting visible danger bravely. It isn't as hard to face death or even to die as it is to live honestly and consistently.

A good many people start out with a few honest convictions and discover that their honesty and sincerity aren't paying as well as the trickery and charlatanism of other folks. For a while they fight for their ideals—for a time they make an honest effort to live their lives as they think right and fitting. But over and over in their minds goes the refrain, "It doesn't pay—it isn't paying! What's the use?"

And too often an individual who start out with splendid ideals resigns them as impractical and lives a life of compromise with conscience and conviction. But that doesn't pay.

No one ever got away from his own inner conviction of right and wrong. Whoever believes a thing strongly and fails it weakly, has to suffer the reproaches of his own thoughts. There are always quiet hours when the ghost of an honest past rises to reproach a dishonest present.

And yet it is pathetically easy to drift into compromise with ideals or even to sink to a level where they are no longer visible. And it is pathetically hard actually to live up to convictions of right.

But the only way for any human being to be at peace with himself is to do the right as he sees it.

If he fails to do this he may win money and place, but he cannot win a moment of peace of mind.

Peace of mind is about the most important thing in the world for any one who wants to be happy and contented.

The effort it takes to live up to ideals is well worth making. It means a struggle at, first—that is quite true. But it means clear vision, strength and the ultimate success that has to come to any one who looks at things honestly and strives toward them unreservedly.

No one ever yet compromised with his own ideals and achieved a success that wasn't dust and ashes in his own mouth. No one need flatter himself that he is going to be the exception to this rule. A man who has ideals, a perception of the honest thing to do and an inherent desire to express his best self will achieve only misery if he fails them.

"For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Sowing Tares

During a Bible lesson a teacher was trying to explain the parable of the tares.

"Can anyone tell me any person who is like the evil one who sowed tares?"

A hand instantly shot up from the foot of the class.

"Well, David, what person do you say?"

"Please, ma'am, my mother."

"Why?" asked the teacher, in astonishment.

"Because," answered he, eyeing the patched trousers, "she sews tears."

Wedded by Moon and Candle Light

The surprising ceremony by which the Countess Blas de Pierrefeu was married to a plain, American gentleman. In next Sunday's Boston AMERICAN.

In Our Wonderful World

An interesting sight in the harbor of Yagoshi, Japan, is the coaling, done entirely by girls. Big coal barges bear down upon a ship as it approaches the shore, and as soon as it comes to anchor a rough ladder is placed between the vessel and the foremost barge. On each rung a girl takes her place. Men in the barge quickly shovel the coal into sieves or baskets holding half a bushel each, to the sound of a monotonous chant, and these baskets then pass from hand to hand up the living ladder with marvellous celerity. Each girl seizes one and swings it straight up in front of her, above her head, where it is caught by the next girl.

Down a second ladder, likewise packed with girls, the empty baskets pass in a similar manner back into the barge to be refilled. Barge after barge is emptied to be refilled. The monotonous chanting never ceases; the living elevator goes on hour after hour, with its never-ending stream of baskets, until the last bunker is full, when the ladders disappear as if by magic, and the ship is ready to proceed on her voyage.

A big mail steamer will "bunker" 3,500 tons of coal in six and a half hours, an average of 538½ tons per hour—an almost incredible record.

* * *

The tailor bird of India, a tiny yellow creature, makes a most curious nest. Its enemy, snakes and monkeys this bird takes a dead leaf, flies up into a tree, and, with a fibre for a thread and its bill for a needle sews the leaf to a green one hanging from the tree. The sides are sewed up, an opening to the nest thus formed being left at the top. The leaf, apparently hanging from a twig, would never be taken for a nest.

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Advertisement.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misdirection, rheumatism, impure blood and all sorts of ailments

People who feel good one day and badly the next, and who simply cannot get feeling right, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do—Advertisement.

Two Firsts for Geers' Stable on Big Line

Columbus, O., Sept. 22.—With "Pop" Geers in the hospital, the result of a fall in the race for the Herman stake here Wednesday, two of his horses won the feature races on the Grand Circuit card.

Tom Murphy acted as a substitute for the injured veteran, piloting St. Frisco to victory in the stake for 2:08 trotters and scoring with Napoleon Direct in the free-for-all pace. St. Frisco outclassed his field, while Napoleon Direct never was in real trouble.

In the second heat of the last pace Hal Boy raced the big horse for seven-eighths, but faded in the final drive, Single G. getting the place when Napoleon Direct won, eased up in 2:09¼, the fastest heat of the meeting.

Diumeter was a $30 to $12 choice for the 2:10 pace and won after losing the first heat to Peter G. The judges were not satisfied with the driving of Snow behind the latter, and substituted Valentine in the third heat, but he was not able to improve the position of the horse.

The 2:13 trot went to Zomrect after Royal Max landed the first heat.

EIGHT NEWCOMERS REPORT AT TUFTS

Eight new players reported at the second day's practice of the Tufts football squad.

Haggerty, a former Holy Cross tackle, and Ryan, ex-Colgate end, who were last year in Tufts Dental School, will be eligible for the varsity this Fall and seem to be on their old strides.

Linseri, an end, formerly of Belmont High and Huntington; Whittemore, a back from Palmer High; Crowley and Cahoon, former Medford High backs, and Reese, an end from Wareham High, are the other new warriors.

The squad was sent through a long signal practice, followed by a scrimmage in which no tackling was allowed. Paul Pryor was at centre, while Jeffery alternated with Drumsey at quarterback.

EARL JR. IS BEST IN FREE-FOR-ALL PACE

Rochester, N. H., Sept. 22.—That game gray pacer, Earl Jr., won the free-for-all pacing stake at the Fair Grounds after a six-heat contest, with fast miles and eyelash finishes ruling throughout. Sam Hastings brought Ideal Lady to the wire in front in the first two heats. H. M. gained the third heat and Earl, Jr., the following three.

Koroui suffered defeat in the 2:13 trot. It was won by the New York trotter, Biaggie. Little Battiste delivered in the 2:15 pace, which required six heats before the winner was declared.

EVANS AWARDED TO BARNEY DREYFUSS

Cincinnati, Sept. 22.—The National Commission has announced that Player William Evans belongs to the Pittsburgh club. The Asheville (North Carolina League) club put in a claim for Evans' services, basing it on an oral agreement which provided that in case Evans played professional baseball after leaving college he would play with Asheville.

The commission held that this agreement had never been offered for ward, as provided for by the rules of organized baseball.

JOE WHITE JOINS PRACTICE AT B. C.

Coach Charley Brickley gave the Boston College football squad a long blackboard talk. Proposed plays and combinations were drawn and explained by the coach.

Later in the afternoon a part of the squad was put through a brief signal practice, while another bunch took turns tackling the dummy. The usual scrimmage between Teams A and B lasted a very short time.

Joe White has joined Regan and Dee in the race for quarterback.

OPERATE ON LOOMIS.

New York, Sept. 22.—C. W. Loomis, the Boston A. A. runner, has been operated on for appendicitis at the Post-Graduate Hospital, and is doing as well as can be expected.

PIRATES DRAFT CARLSON.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 22.—The Pittsburgh Club announces that Pitcher Harold Carlson had been obtained by draft from the Rockford (Three-Eye League) Club. He was first claimed by the Cubs.

YANKEES LOSE GEDEON.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—Second Baseman Gedeon of the Yankees sprained his left ankle in the game with the Browns and will probably go home for the balance of the season.

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

Traders in the New York stock market, after watching the trend of prices, declared at noon today that the market had the resiliency of a rubber ball—that the harder the bears threw it down the higher it rebounded. And, judging from the number of new high records made during the morning, the comparison was well made.

Trading in United States Steel was the outstanding feature. Starting with a new high record of 110⅜ on a 6,000-share sale, this stock, compared as the market barometer, crawled slowly up to 111⅝. The demand for Steel was so large that all offerings of the stock were quickly absorbed.

Other high records were made by Anaconda at 95⅜, Inspiration at 64⅜, Utah Copper at 91⅜, Kennecott Copper at 59⅛ and Central Leather 63¼. Union Pacific at 145⅝ was at its highest point since 1916, while Reading at 114 was only ⅛ below its recent high record.

Island Creek Coal Company

PREFERRED STOCK DIVIDEND.

The Directors of the Island Creek Coal Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. upon the preferred capital stock of the company, payable October 2, 1916, to the common stockholders of record at close of business September 18, 1916.

F. W. BATCHELDER, Treasurer.

Island Creek Coal Company

COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND.

The Directors of the Island Creek Coal Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. upon the common capital stock of the company, payable October 2, 1916, to the common stockholders of record at close of business September 18, 1916.

F. W. BATCHELDER, Treasurer.

The entire list reflected the strength of United States Steel. Among large gains at noon were New York Air Brake 7¾ points, Baldwin common more than 5, Crucible Steel 2¼, Republic Steel 4⅝, Texas Company 3⅝, Maxwell, Studebaker 1½, Mack 2, common 1¼, preferred 1⅝, Lehigh Valley 1, Canadian Pacific 1⅞, Norfolk & Western 1⅛, and Northern Pacific ⅞.

The immense volume of business to noon assured another million-share day. Copper stocks were in urgent demand, while railway issues were more active than for some time. Favorable reports on every hand helped the upward swing of prices.

The Boston market, while only moderately active, reflected the strength of the New York market. Principal activity was in copper issues. St. Mary's advanced 3½ points. Other gains were Utah Copper 1¾, Arizona Commercial ¾, Mohawk 1, Tamarack 1, Almeek 1, Calumet & Hecla 2, Granby ½, Nevada Consolidated ¼. On a small amount of trading, Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies common advanced ¾, while American Zinc lost ¾.

The Public Has a Right to Know Identity of All Paralysis Cases

THE boards of health of certain towns and cities have declined to make known the names of children afflicted with infantile paralysis. It is difficult to understand what imperative considerations move any board of health to withhold the names of those who have this contagious disease and of those who have been exposed to it.

Infantile paralysis is not a disgraceful disease. One can have it as one has measles, scarlet fever or diphtheria. The argument which is advanced in favor of secrecy is that publicity subjects those who have been exposed to the disease and members of the family of the afflicted to very great hardships, to social ostracism by neighbors and friends and then to a suspension of employment by employers who fear the spread of the disease to themselves and their children.

This argument ought to be the very strongest in the world IN FAVOR of publishing the names of those afflicted and of those exposed to the contagion. The public health officers have no right whatever to deprive the community of the means of protecting itself by isolation if it chooses. The publication of the names does not involve disgraceful or humiliating social ostracism. It merely involves measures of self-protection which people take of their own accord.

It is absolutely selfish and unreasonable for those exposed to the contagion to move about in general society, when one of the few things that are known concerning infantile paralysis is that perfectly healthy persons can carry the disease and spread it broadcast. We have a right to select our company. The employer has a right to say that the employe who has been exposed to this terrible contagion shall not come to work until the danger is over. He has a right to say it for his own protection and for the protection of his other employes.

In the development of the protection of health some day it may come to pass that we may even isolate temporarily those who have colds to prevent the spread of colds. Certainly we ought to be allowed to quarantine OURSELVES if we chose from people who have been in the presence of infantile paralysis and who may carry its deadly germ to us and thence to our children.

The Board of Health of Boston has considered this question seriously and has wisely determined that the public interest demands that the names of those afflicted shall be published. All other boards of health ought to emulate this example.

You See No Strikes Among Letter Carriers, Do You?

YOU wouldn't see railroad strikes or street car strikes either if the public OWNED the railroads and the street cars, as it SHOULD own them.

Public necessities should be managed only for the public interest. Instead of that they are managed, from the INSIDE, with an eye to the pocketbooks of private owners, and, from the OUTSIDE, with an eye to the profits of employes and the glory of labor leaders.

There should be neither private dividends nor individual labor leader glory in the management of things upon which the public absolutely depends.

Telephones, telegraphs, street car companies, railway companies, lighting plants, all absolute necessities, should be OWNED by the people, MANAGED by them, with employes well paid, NO QUESTION OF STRIKES, but fair arbitration courts for settling wages and hours.

Every strike in a public corporation is another argument for government ownership.

Look at the Postoffice—strikes do not interfere with delivery of your letters or your parcel post.

Many ignorantly opposed the parcel post at first, yet in case of a great strike of railroads and street cars, the parcel post might be the ONLY possible means of getting food to the people.

For the Government has power, and can enforce its right against ALL, without hiring gangsters and without fear or brutality.

Once-Overs

Undoubtedly you have some mean little traits which you do not care to have known, and it would make you feel mighty uncomfortable if you thought that they were common talk among those who know you best.

The best thing you can do is to get rid of them.

When they begin to assert themselves, throttle them.

Show the sort of mastery of yourself which every real man should have.

Drive such ideas out and keep them out. It is a mighty fine sort of discipline, and you will be surprised and gratified at the result.

Most of us have a streak of meanness, and, conceal it as you may, sooner or later it will crop out, unless it is rooted out.

This knowledge may not add to your peace of mind, but it is true that the longer we put off the struggle, the harder the fight. Prevent overcoming now—it is up to you.

SHANGHAIED BY SEA WOLVES

A Stirring, Swift-Moving Spiel, Full of Dynamic Daring and Almost Incredible Impoliteness

Mr. Opper's work appears regularly in animated cartoons in the International Film Service.

"Avast! If you don't know how to avast you can belay or ahoy! But you gotter do one of 'em!" As Skim Milk Sim uttered this expression, which to say the least was scarcely such as one gentleman would use to another, he looked with a sneering laugh at his helpless captives, who were tied to basswood posts, gazing in terror at several exceedingly unpleasant-looking alligators, turtles and octopuses that were rapidly approaching, for it was near their lunch-time. It was a raw deal. Why, you wouldn't treat your worst enemy that way! But did those pirates have any feelings of pity? Not a pit! They never had any bringing-up, anyway, and to show their heartlessness they burst into the following unfeeling villanelle:

"Eeny, meeny, miny, mo;
See us grab the People's dough!
Off to sea we gaily go;
Eeny, meeny, miny, mo!"

Suddenly an ear-splitting shriek was——

To be continued as soon as we can get up another one.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M.
Camp Cotton, El Paso, Texas, Sept. 15, 1916.

Boston AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen—I this day received the 100,000 letter heads and envelopes from the Boston AMERICAN for the use of the Massachusetts troops, and I will see that the same are promptly distributed as requested, including also the Second Massachusetts Regiment at Columbus, N. M.

I wish to thank the Boston AMERICAN, not only for the generous supply of writing paper and envelopes, but for the thoughtfulness in providing a much-needed want for the Massachusetts soldiers.

All the Massachusetts troops on the border, the infantry, field artillery, the cavalry, the signal corps, the ambulance companies and the field hospital are doing excellent work and are maintaining the high standard that Massachusetts soldiers have always held when called into the service of the United States.

I am, very respectfully yours,
E. LEROY SWEETSER,
Commanding General Second Brigade Mass. N. G.

Thoughts by the Way

Just because a man does not like the same kind of entertainment that interests you is no sign that he is weak.

Some of the most wonderful minds find just the sort of relaxation they need in the lightest sort of entertainment.

At least once a week, more frequently if he finds time, a prominent attorney visits a picture show. A famous surgeon plays marbles with the boys in his neighborhood when he needs relaxation.

There are some men who do not dare follow the line which offers them the most rest and amusement, because they fear people will consider them a little unbalanced.

The men who really do things are the ones who are above being affected by what people may think of them, so long as they know themselves that they are right.

At Daybreak

By Jane McLean

I HAVE seen dawns before, but none so gray,
So chill, with feet that drag along the way,
And such a whimpering in the wind's damp breath—
Surely this dawn means nothing else but death.

I have seen dawns that broke in rose and gold,
But none whose lips were blue, whose hands were cold,
As though afraid to usher in the day,
Shrouding her shoulders in a mist of gray.

What is there that the day should hide its face,
That dawn should shiver in this silent place?
Only dead faces turned up to the sky,
The forms of soldiers left behind to die.

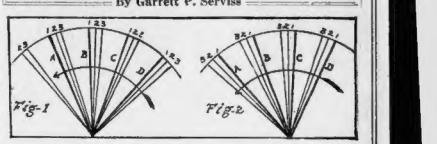
Why Wheels in Movie Scenes Often Appear to Turn Backward

Direction Depends Upon Relation Between Speed of Revolution and Length of Interval Between Photographic Poses — Other Strange Deceptions of the Screen

By Garrett P. Serviss



"Why in moving pictures do the wheels of moving vehicles always turn backward? This has always been a puzzle to me. C. R."

LIKE so many phenomena that we meet every day and let pass without attempt at explanation, it is a deception in which the eye misleads the brain. But you are wrong in saying that the wheels always turn backward, for often they turn forward. The direction of their turning depends upon the relation between the speed of revolution of the wheel and the length of the interval between the photographic poses.

Suppose this interval to be one-twelfth of a second, then twelve successive positions of the wheel spokes will be presented to the eye in the course of one second, and they will blend into an apparently unbroken series on account of the physiological principle of the persistence of vision, which causes the retina of the eye to retain an impression for a small fraction of a second.

Now suppose that the revolution of the wheel carries each spoke forward in one-twelfth of a second considerably more than half the distance between the spokes; then the wheel will seem to revolve backward. But if the advance of the spokes in one-twelfth of a second is less than half the distance between the spokes, then the wheel will be seen to turn forward. This becomes evident upon inspection of the accompanying diagrams.

Explanation of Diagram Which Shows How Spokes of Wheel Move

Take first Fig. 1, in which four of the spokes only are represented, since that is enough for our purpose. Let their relative positions, as shown by the first pose on the moving film, be indicated by the figures 1, 1, 1, 1. Suppose that at the end of a twelfth of a second, when the second pose is made, the spokes have advanced in the direction of the arrow to the positions indicated by the figures 2, 2, 2, 2. Then spoke B will have reached a position immediately behind that in which the eye a moment before saw spoke A, spoke C will have assumed a similar position just back of where B appeared, and the same with D and C.

In another twelfth of a second the spokes will apparently have fallen back to the positions 3, 3, 3, 3, and thus the eye sees an apparent backward revolution of the wheel, although the actual direction of revolution is that shown by the arrow.

Next consider Fig. 2, which shows the effect produced when the speed of revolution is only sufficient to carry the spokes over less than half the distance between them, during the intervals of the photographic poses. Let their successive positions, in three moments a twelfth of a second apart, be shown, as before, by the figures 1, 2 and 3. Since these, when referred to the positions in which the spokes are ahead and not behind, there is no deception like that in the other case, and the wheel appears to revolve forward, as it actually does.

Similar appearances will be presented if the speed of revolution is great enough to carry the spokes more than the distance between them, the direction of apparent turning depending, in that case, upon the fraction of the next space-interval that is traversed. But when the speed becomes very great the spokes disappear in a blur, exactly as they do when the eye watches a real vehicle instead of a picture of one.

A little thought will show you that there must be circumstances in which the wheels of moving vehicles in a motion picture will seem to hang motionless on their axles, while the vehicle runs on, as if it were being pushed with its wheels locked. This would occur if the speed of revolution were such that the space traversed between each photographic pose was just equal to the distance between the spokes. Then the whole system of spokes would be presented to the eye in the same relative position at each successive pose, and the effect of the actual revolution would be entirely lost. In fact, the possibilities of deception in a motion picture are almost infinite, and no doubt many of them yet remain to be developed for the instruction and entertainment of mankind.

No More Real Perspective in Motion Picture Than in Photograph

"When looking at motion pictures do we actually see the miles and miles of distance shown? Do our eyes change focus as in looking at an actual landscape? I ask because I often have headache after watching motion pictures and I thought it might be due to rapid changes of focus of the eye. MARIE."

If the eye changes focus while looking at a motion picture it is because the sense of reality produced by the movements in the scene and the appearance of perspective arising from the alteration in the angular size of objects approaching or receding deceive it, and induce reaction of the nerves and muscles controlling it. There is no more real perspective in a motion picture than in an ordinary photograph.
